MILITARY AID FOR POLAND

French and British Missions Leave for Warsaw to Arrange for Prompt Help

Infantry, Tanks, Air Forces and Artillery Will be Offered

PARIS, July 22.—The allies have decided to take measures preparatory to giving military aid to Poland, if that should prove necessary, it was learned here today.

A French mission headed by Jules J. Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, who is at home on leave, General Weygand, right hand man of Marshal Foch, and M. Vignon, a close collaborator with Premier Millerand, will leave tonight for Warsaw to arrange for prompt succor to the Poles.

On the same train and with the same object there will be a British mission headed by Lord Abernethy, British ambassador at Berlin, General Radcliffe and Sir Maurice Hankey. These missions, it is learned, leave with full authority to say to the Poles that whatever aid is needed, whether military or financial or in the nature of supplies will be forthcoming if the Bolsheviks persist in a design to march in persistently Polish territory.

It is stated unofficially, but on high authority, that this means help for Poland in the form of troops. If they are required.

Already a large number of allied officers and subalterns are with the Polish army, which it is declared, will be increased according to circumstances with as many divisions of infantry, tank detachments, air forces and artillery as may be transported in due time.

PRES. WOOD DECLINES TO MEET MAYOR WHITE

BOSTON, July 22.—President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. today declined to meet Mayor White or the city council of Lawrence to discuss the reasons for closing the company's mills there and the possibility of an early re-opening. The company head in a letter to the mayor, said he had already written him fully of the subject, and added:

"I do not readily see how an interview with the council of the city of Lawrence or with you can be of any assistance in controlling the economic conditions which compelled the shutdown, or in any other respect serve a useful purpose.

"I am confirmed in this conclusion by several utterances of yours which have appeared in the newspapers and which do not seem to me to approach this important problem in a helpful spirit."

WILL INCREASE CUSTOMS DUTIES

PARIS, July 22.—A decree repealing the one of April 23, which prohibited importation of many articles from America, has been signed and will be promulgated in a day or two.

By its terms, however, there will be considerable increase in customs duties on articles regarded as superfluous to French life.

BOULEVARD DANCE HALL

Mayor Will Take no Part in Controversy—Public Hearing Tuesday

Mayor Perry D. Thompson will maintain a policy of absolute neutrality as far as his official actions are concerned relative to the controversy now being waged as to whether there shall be erected a dance hall on the Pawtucket boulevard, near the municipal bath house, he said this forenoon, following a conference with Rev. Arthur G. Lyon, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church.

Rev. Mr. Lyon came to the mayor to present him a series of petitions signed by residents of Pawtucketville protesting against the erection of the proposed hall. According to the mayor, 85 out of every 100 people in that section of the city have signed the petitions.

However, inasmuch as the license commission has supreme jurisdiction over the granting of a license for the dance hall and has expressed its intention of holding a public hearing on the matter next Tuesday evening, the mayor sees no reason why he should interfere.

Personally, the mayor believes that there is no reason why there should be forced on the people of Pawtucketville something they don't want. One of the arguments which has been advanced against the project is that patients at the Lowell General hospital will be disturbed by the music coming from the hall. The pastors of both St. Columba's and the Pawtucketville Congregational church are opposed to it, and with such adverse sentiment coming from all sides, the mayor does not believe that a license will be granted.

However, both sides of the story will undoubtedly be brought out on Tuesday's hearing before the license commission, and it is solely up to that body to determine what course is to be taken in the matter, the mayor says.

MILL COAL SUPPLY

Several of the Local Mills Are Burning Oil

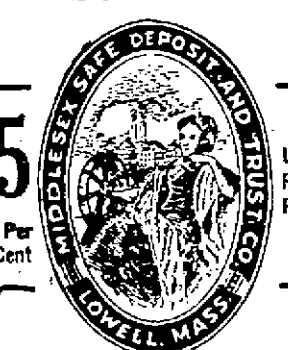

Although local mill officials report that the soft coal situation in this city is sub-normal no fear is being entertained for a greater shortage. As far as could be learned all the mills have a supply on hand that will keep them going for some time to come.

One of the local mill agents stated this noon that a number of the mills have shifted over to oil burning and this in a great measure brings relief to other mills that use nothing but coal. These mills, he said, are not depending entirely on oil for fuel, for the consumption of the liquid is great enough to help along conditions. There is no indication in Lowell at present that manufacturing plants will be forced to shut down because of lack of coal.

MORE MEN JOIN THE JOLLY TARS

The local navy recruiting station sent six men to Boston today as recruits for the "Horn of the Sea". Alfred Marous, 4 Chandler street, Lawrence; Alphonse Myers, 30 Bennett street, Lawrence; Alfred Becotte, 75 Water street, Lawrence; William A. Sawyer, 9 Summer street, Lowell; Patrick G. Lynch, 11 N. 101 street, Lowell; James Hyland, rear 75 Union street, Lowell, were the men enlisted.

MOONSHINE HAD SOME KICK

Sergt. Palmer Touches Match to Outlaw Whiskey to Settle Argument

Blue Flame Appears and Officer Declares That Stuff is 100 Proof

"That's 100 proof, all right," said Sergt. Palmer in the police station hallway this morning as he watched a small blue flame consume a quantity of liquid on the floor.

To settle an argument over the strength of a gallon of moonshine taken from three autoists by Constable Harry Holt of Tyngsboro last night, Sergt. Palmer had taken a small quantity of the liquor, diluted it with water, spilled it on the floor and set it afire. "When there's enough alcohol in it to produce a flame such as that then it surely has a little kick to it," concluded the sergeant.

THREE KILLED IN BELFAST

Armored Cars Patrol City Today After Night of Serious Rioting

BELFAST, July 22.—Belfast this morning was quiet after a night of sanguinary fighting between Sinn Fein and Unionist mobs, but the situation was tense and the military with armored cars were patrolling the affected areas. Train was falling and it was hoped that this would prove a deterrent to further rioting.

Casualties thus far recorded are two men and one woman killed and 21 injured at hospitals for serious gunshot wounds. Many wounded did not report at hospitals. Fifty-four arrests were made.

The primary cause of the trouble is believed to be the recent murder of Colonel Smyth in Cork, as many men employed in Belfast came from Randalstown, which was Smyth's native town.

This morning the workers returned to the shipyards as though nothing had happened, although the trouble was started in the yards yesterday after a number of Sinn Fein employers had been attacked. The authorities believe they have the situation in hand.

Unofficial estimates place the property damage and looting done by the mob at $100,000.

POSTOFFICE WRECKED IN WEST BELFAST

BELFAST, July 22.—Rioting was renewed in the Falls area of West Belfast during the mill dinner hour today. The postoffice was wrecked and the police fired on the rioters. In the melee a soldier and several civilians were wounded.

RED SOX WILL GO AFTER TRAYNOR

BOSTON, July 22.—The Boston Americans will enter a claim for Shortstop Traynor, of the Portsmouth, Va., club whose purchase for $10,000 by the Pittsburgh Nationals has been reported. Manager Ed Barrows of the Red Sox announced today. Traynor is the property of the Boston club, having been sent to Portsmouth by the Red Sox on condition that Boston have the pick of the Virginia club. Manager Barrow said.

BROTHERHOOD HEADS AT ODDS

No Agreement Yet on Rejection or Acceptance of Wage Award

Some Satisfied, Others Favor Referendum Vote—Telegraphers Against It

CHICAGO, July 22.—Heads of the great railroad brotherhoods this morning were divided in opinion on the course of action which should be pursued as to acceptance or rejection of the $600,000,000 wage increase granted by the railway labor board.

At the close of an all-night session, at which no agreement was reached on a plan for concerted action, six of the brotherhoods, in addition to the masters, makes and pilots of America, had expressed their decision as favorable to acceptance of the award in its entirety; seven favored referring the question to the unions with recommendation.

NEW PASSENGER RATES

Will Go Up Cent a Mile if Plan of Executives is Accepted

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Travel on railway passenger trains will cost from one-half to one cent a mile more if the interstate commerce commission adopts the suggestion of the association of railway executives for meeting the $600,000,000 added operation expenses by reason of increased wages granted to employees of the roads by the labor board. A schedule of increased rates, both freight and passenger, has been worked out by the executives in conference here during the last two days and this was expected to be ready for submission to the commission.

According to A. P. Thom, counsel for the railway association in addition to increased passenger fares, including commutation and multiple tickets and Pullman charges, the carriers will ask that milk and express transportation bear a proportion of the increased labor expense; also an increase of about 8 per cent in freight charges will be asked in addition to the 25 per cent sought in order to meet the 6 per cent, earnings guarantee provided in the transportation act passed by the last congress.

As tentatively agreed upon by the carriers, the increase on ordinary passenger travel would be half a cent a mile in the east and from three-quarters of a cent to a cent in the west. The older difficulty faced, it was said, is in making the proposed schedules conform to various state laws.

2,000,000 POUNDS OF WOOL STORED

DALLAS, TEXAS, July 22.—More than 2,000,000 pounds of wool are being held in storage warehouses throughout the state waiting for the reopening of the market in September, when it is hoped better prices will prevail, according to C. O. Moser, Dallas county agricultural agent.

Mr. Moser says there is at present little market for wool and extraordinary low prices are being offered, some bidders offering as low as 25 cents per pound. Wool prices have previously ranged from 50 to 75 cents.

Parades go Through Court of Honor and Pass Harding Home in Review

MARION, Ohio, July 22.—The republican campaign attained full speed ahead today with the formal notification here of Warren G. Harding, the party's nominee for the presidency.

The notification ceremonies, which brought to Marion most of the big leaders of the party and many thousands of Harding enthusiasts, included an acceptance speech by Senator Harding interpreting the Chicago platform and declaring the principles on which he expects the campaign to be fought out.

His declarations were expected to strike a key note, giving tone to the arguments of republican workers throughout the nation in the season of political debate ushered in by notification day.

The acceptance speech came at the end of a long program in which high-spirited enthusiasm ruled the day as the visiting delegations marched on the Harding residence in unbroken succession to be received by the candidate and to pay their respects in the coin of tumultuous political emotion.

At 7 o'clock in the morning a noisy aggregation of Marion citizens that looked like half the town, let off the demonstration that set a mark for the out-of-town folk to shoot at. Declares United Party Has Entire Confidence in Nominee's Ability

MARION, O., July 22.—Declaring that no national campaign for the presidency has ever involved graver issues than this one, Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts, today delivered the official notification speech to Senator Warren G. Harding, republican nominee.

Senator Lodge spoke in part, as follows: "We are assembled here as a committee representing the states, territories and possessions of the United States to make to you formal announcement of your nomination for the office of president of the republic on June 12th last, at Chicago, by the republican national convention. This duty is to us as pleasing as it is honorable, but we are also deeply conscious of its far-reaching importance. We fully appreciate that what you say to us today will not only

SHAMROCK IN DRYDOCK

Challenger Goes to Be Cleaned While Resolute Remains at Moorings

SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 22.—The cup challenger Shamrock IV, was towed to the Staten Island Shipbuilding company plant early today to be drydocked and have her underbody cleaned in preparation for the fourth race with the American defender Resolute tomorrow. The contest yesterday, in which the two sloops went over the 30 mile course in exactly the same elapsed time, has added marked interest to the contests to come.

Captain Burton, Designer Nicholson and Navigator Claude Hickman of the Shamrock were especially pleased with what they agreed was a wonderfully fine race yesterday, even though the challenger lost it on time allowance.

"Resolute is a fine boat," said Mr. Nicholson, "and Herreshoff has designed a craft that goes better to windward than Shamrock. On the run home before the wind yesterday, the sloops raced along beam to beam as if they had been locked together. It was a fine race, even if we did lose it."

The race tomorrow will be over a triangular course 10 miles to a leg, and it is in this contest that Shamrock is expected to force the Resolute to the limit as the legs of the race will be reached, at which point of sailing the Lipton sloop has shown to her best advantage.

Yachting sharpshooters declare that Shamrock can outreach Resolute in any kind of wind, but whether she can outreach her sufficiently to overcome the handicap of seven minutes and one second, is a riddle which if answered correctly will also answer that other question, "Will Lipton win the cup?"

The Resolute remained at her moorings today in the horseshoe, where an inspection was made of her rigging and sails.

WARSAW MENACED BY POLISH DEFEAT

WARSAW, July 22.—The menace to the Polish capital is becoming serious through the defeat of the left wing of the Polish army. The battle front runs 400 miles on a fairly straight line north and south, and is about 125 miles east of Warsaw.

Since the attacks of the Bolsheviks against Vilna on July 14, the Polish left or northern wing has been compelled to hasten its retreat and the Bolsheviks have been following it with a daily advance averaging 15 miles. In three weeks, the Poles have retreated from the Beresina river to the Niemen, a distance of more than 150 miles, and the distance between the Niemen and the Vistula which flows through Warsaw is less than that, being about 150 miles.

FOUND! ACTRESS WHO LIKES VAMP ROLES

Copyright, 1920, Moffet, Chicago.
NEW YORK, July 22.—Helen Bolton, who won fame in "Oh Lady Lady," and has since created "vamp" roles in many Broadway successes, shatters the popular illusion that she dislikes such roles.

"Emphatically, I do like vamp roles," she says. "Not the popular screen version caparisoned with such 'props' as tight clothes, intriguing eyes, and daggers. She is neither clever nor subtle. But consider the normal young woman of fairly regular proportions, who dresses after a sane fashion, likes to win Cobb, goes to baseball games, and may even know how to cook—naturally she has some weaknesses. Perhaps she writes poems she does not mean, or smiles an occasional limp into almost sincere masculine eyes—the understanding, the humorous, the lovable, the changeable, the great contradiction without malice, but with an insatiable capacity for entertainment—she is the vamp I like to play and try to play."

NATIONAL GRANGE

Big Convention in Boston Early in November

Reports from all sections of New England show a tremendous interest in the big session of the national grange at Boston, Nov. 10-12 next and present indications are that upwards of 15,000 Patrons of Husbandry will attend, coming principally from the New England states and New York, although good delegations are coming from states farther distant, Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania will send several carloads, while even the Pacific coast will be well represented. Those in charge of working the seventh degree are inclined to feel that the class of 10,000 candidates planned for will be easily reached, and probably exceeded.

With a seating capacity of 5000 in Mechanics hall, it is planned that the working of the seventh degree on Friday, Nov. 12, will occur at 2:30 in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evening, thereby fully accommodating all the candidates. That special trains will be run to Boston that day from various New England points is expected, following the same plan as carried out at Manchester, N. H., seven years ago. In connection with the session, the special historic significance of this centenary year is to be recognized in a way that will have great interest. On Sunday, Nov. 14, the delegates and others are to be taken by automobiles over the route of Paul Revere's ride, through Concord, Lexington, and other points, stopping at Concord and attending church in a body at one of the historic old churches of that town. Monday, the 15th, will be given over wholly to a trip by special train to Plymouth, a fitting historical service at Plymouth Rock and a genuine New England clam bake afterward.

The use of Faneuil hall has been secured for the sessions of the second week, beginning with the memorial service on Sunday night, following the use of Mechanics hall the entire first week. That attendance will run heavy the whole 10 days of the session is certain, while plans are in progress to make the closing day, Friday, the 19th, especially significant, as a fitting close to what will undoubtedly prove the most memorable session the national grange ever held. That this will be one of the largest conventions ever assembled in Boston is certain, and in addition 40 reservations already made in all the hotels of the city, a well-organized housing bureau is at work securing every available room in Greater Boston for the use of the visitors.

Reports on the proposed agricultural exhibit to be run in the lower hall in Mechanics building all the first week, and wholly free to the public, point to a quality show that has never been equalled in New England. With the six states all co-operating, each showing up its own products as special advantage, the show will be in many respects unique and highly interesting. Vermont, for example, is not only to specialize on maple sugar products, but will illustrate the whole process of maple sugar manufacturing, undoubtedly to the delight of all witnesses. Maine promises the greatest potato show ever staged, while all the other states will be equally alert in preparing their exhibits. Certainly the whole 10 days' session will be one big New England event, eagerly anticipated and sure to be long remembered. Suffolk Furniture company and work-

BLAZE THREATENS CHELSEA TENEMENTS

BOSTON, July 22.—The two-story factory building at Pearl and Marginal streets, Chelsea, was almost destroyed and a wide area of factory and tenement house section threatened in a two-alarm fire yesterday.

The Victor Leather company was burned out. It occupied the first floor of the building. The fire started by spontaneous combustion in the stock on its floor, it is believed. The second floor was to be occupied today by the Suffolk Furniture company and workmen were cleaning it up in preparation for the coming of this company's stock. The building was owned by A. Freedman of Malden.

The occupants of the three-family frame dwelling adjoining on Pearl st. were driven out, as were the workmen at the plant of the American Cooperage company, across Marginal street. The fire sent forth smoke in heavy volume, and this penetrated to the nearby buildings.

WALL NO MENACE
DENVER, July 22.—The fire department decided to demolish a stone wall in the business district with high power water. The wall was branded "a menace." Two fire engines delivered 2000 gallons a minute at 150 pounds pressure to the square inch. After 200,000 gallons of water had fallen on the 100-foot wall without making it tremble, the department decided it was "no menace," packed up its hose and went home.

Nine women who took the state bar examination at Jefferson City, Mo., were all successful, including Mrs. Mary F. Holliday, a rich St. Louis widow, who took the examination to encourage her son, Hiram, Jr., also a law student. She passed, and he didn't.

FORMATION OF SILVER ASSOCIATION

NOGALES, Ariz., July 22.—The chamber of commerce has joined with Charles Butters, mining expert of New York and San Francisco, to promote the formation in Mexico of an association of silver mine owners and silver producers to rebuild the abandoned mines throughout the nation and thus bring about once more the free and unlimited output of silver. Mr. Butters states that if the old time mining plan is re-established it will mean that Mexico will coin 500,000,000 ounces of silver.

The mining expert has extensive interests in mines in Mexico, Salvador and Nicaragua and is known for his introduction of the cyanide reduction process into Mexico. He says the greatest need of Mexico today is small change and "hard money."

The revolution and the world war, says Mr. Butters, have stripped Mexico bare of silver coin. In its place he says is a vast quantity of paper money issued by the varying governments as fiat money. He blames the great flood of paper money in Mexico for most of the suffering in that nation in connection with the various revolutions.

This system, according to the silver mine expert, has threefold benefits. It will, he says, at once restore to Mexico the "hard money" and small change, provide a permanent primary market at home for large amounts of silver production and stabilize the silver market because Mexican home requirements will take up a great quantity of silver now exported and

Red Pills and Female Weakness

When a woman complains of persistent pains and discomforts, one is safe in saying that she is troubled with a malady peculiar to her sex, and that she suffers from that disease, or agglomeration of diseases, which is generally called Female Weakness.

This disease is more frequently met in married women and women at the change of life, but still it also attacks young girls who have to work for their living. Female Weakness may be caused by various reasons, such as exposure to cold, lack of proper care, hard work, lack of nutrition, etc., but the main cause, and one which never fails to bring that disease on as a result, is Anaemia.

Anaemia will thin the blood, and lower the strength of its victim, and as soon as a woman becomes anaemic, the various symptoms which are usually known as female weakness will make their appearance. These symptoms are pains in the stomach, kidneys, often headaches, and always a tired feeling, and seldom good digestion, always bearing-down pains, irregular and painful periods.

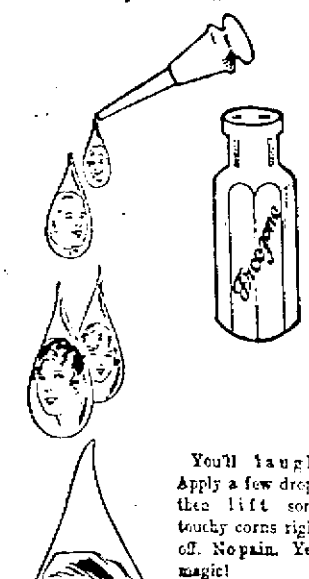

Walking, even the fact of remaining standing for a certain time, and the least exertion, will increase the symptoms. If these symptoms are let alone, and if nothing is done by the patient, they will rapidly increase, and are apt to bring on more serious trouble.

The best treatment for Anaemia, and consequently for female weakness, which as a rule accompanies Anaemia, are Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women, and all women ought to start taking them at the first symptoms of weakness, and not wait until their trouble becomes chronic, their health broken, and their constitution debilitated by nervous symptoms, stomach trouble, and irregularities of all kinds.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's, they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price. Franco-American Chemical Company, Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston, Mass. 102-74

LIFT OFF CORNS WITH FINGERS

Doesn't hurt a bit and costs only few cents

You'll laugh. Apply a few drops then lift sore, touchy corns right off. Nopain. Yes, magic!

A few cents buys a tiny bottle of the magic Frozone at any drug store. Apply a few drops of Frozone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly the corn or callus will feel as if it were melting away. You will feel it melt away and all without any pain, soreness or irritation. These little bottles of Frozone contain just enough to lift the foot of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes, and the old corn on bottom of foot. So easy, so simple. Why wait? No humbug!

President Diney Curtis of the chamber of commerce has named a committee of prominent men to take up the mint proposal with General Alvaro Obregon on his impending visit to his home in Nogales, Sonora, this month.

Meanwhile, the proposition will be submitted by the Nogales chamber of commerce to the civic bodies of all other border cities and the officials of border states.

THOUSAND PEARL DIVERS AT WORK

BABEETH, TAHITI, July 22.—The opening of the pearl-diving season, the great event of the year in the French settlements, comes in July. Diving is not permitted for two years in succession at the same island. The various pearl islands are opened in rotation. This means that all gear, stocks of merchandise and building material must be taken to a new island each year—no small undertaking when it is remembered that the coral atoll, which in ordinary times supports less than two hundred persons, becomes in the diving season the abiding place of 2500 or more.

This year, the open island is Iliku, one of the Paumotu archipelago, 400 miles to the eastward of Tahiti.

Already, this lonely atoll is taking on a metropolitan appearance. The profits to be gained come not only from the pearlshell won from the lagoon, but from the sale of all kinds of wares dear to the native heart and from the providing of entertainment to refresh the weary diver and his women folk after the labors of the day are over. The average native diver wins a good sum from the bottom of the lagoon and much of it goes on expensive silk dresses for his wife and daughters, on the delectable canned goods of the "popas" (white men), and on the "movies."

This year there are to be, it is said, three moving picture theatres, any number of motor cars for hire—the length of the roadway in Hikueru is less than a half mile, but that ordinary times supports less than two hundred persons, becomes in the diving season the abiding place of 2500 or more.

Late advices indicate that the season this year, at Iliku, will be the most active in many years. It is estimated there will be at least 1000 divers at the island. These, together with their families and the traders with their staffs, will swell the population of the island during the season to nearly 4000.

Sure relief

The sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia, and biliousness, needs no warning to avoid the many worthless, so-called "cures" that are offered, often containing harmful drugs. In vain, these various preparations have been tried, frequently leaving the system weaker than before.

The true "L. F." Atwood's Medicine brings quick relief without the risk of injurious after-effects. Instead of a temporary improvement, at the expense of weakening some vital organ, it helps the entire digestive apparatus, tones the stomach, and establishes a general healthy condition. Taken regularly, the physical improvement which will result, will also overcome the fear of a new attack.

"L. F." can be given with perfect safety to every member of the family. It has been a family health-restorer for 60 years; its friends are steadfast. You can buy a large bottle (60 teaspoonful doses) from your druggist for 50 cents. "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

SCHOOLGIRL BEAUTIES WIN BEACH HONORS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—These 15-year-old Washington school girls walked away with the municipal bathing beach honors. They are holding the cups given them in the city beach costume and beauty contests. Miss Elizabeth Roach (left) wore the most beautiful bathing costume—the one she is wearing in the photograph—and Miss Edith M. Williams (right) possessed the greatest physical beauty, according to the judges. Seymour Stone, the noted artist, was one of the judges.

SKEPTICS HEAR OF NEW "GAS" SUBSTITUTE

BOSTON, July 22.—With gasoline at 35 cents a gallon, facing also the possibility of a yet further rise in price, Boston users of the precious fluid commented eagerly yesterday on the report that a cheaper and altogether efficient substitute is being manufactured and applied to all sorts of motor cars in the Hawaiian Islands.

The new fuel, known as "motor alcohol," is the invention of J. P. Foster, a chemist employed in one of the large sugar plantations on the island of Maui. Thus far it has been produced from molasses, a by-product of the sugar industry, and containing, along with fermentable material, such valuable materials as potash, nitrogen and phosphoric.

The motor alcohol made according to the new formula is said to be working successfully in marine, stationary, automobile, truck and tractor gasoline engines. In a 24-hour test with a 75-horsepower tractor the motor alcohol consumption was four gallons per hour, as compared with four and a half gallons of gasoline on similar work. With the motor alcohol the speed was higher and the power greater.

It is claimed that the substitute can be used without any readjustment of the carburetor; easier starting and greater freedom from carbon are also among the advantages. Plantations which have been letting their molasses run to waste or burning it only for the recovery of potash are now said to be finding the manufacture of motor alcohol a profitable undertaking. A visitor just returned from the islands states that "the production of the substitute within the next three months will be sufficient should the gasoline shortage develop, to take care of all the islands."

Most of the Boston men seen yesterday were eager to welcome anything likely to bring in a cheaper motor fuel, but skeptical as to the likelihood of the Hawaiian situation having any immediate application here. "It has long been known," said one of them, "that alcohol can be produced from molasses, and that the alcohol product can be used as fuel for motor cars. It has been thus utilized for years and is being so utilized in Cuba, at New Orleans and in some of our southern coast towns. Resort was had to it during the war, and in all probability the Germans ran a good many of their airplanes with fuel thus derived."

"But there must be certain facilities for local production before you can begin. The Hawaiians have these facilities in their sugar plantations, but the product cannot be sent abroad, for the cost would be too great. Of course, if the price of gasoline continues to go up, some sort of substitute would be likely to find favor."

Another expert dwelt strongly on the mechanical objection. "Alcohol," he said, "is not adapted to use in the gasoline engine as it is constructed today. Moreover, the introduction of it as motor fuel on any large scale would involve new methods of handling and storing all over the country. The best fuel thus far known for our gasoline engines is gasoline."

"The Hawaiians claim to have enough molasses to produce 9,000,000 gallons of motor alcohol, but it must be remembered that this total is no more than perhaps one-tenth of one per cent. of the total amount of gasoline which was used in this country last year. Of course, no man living can now forecast the future that is in store for motor fuel. The problem is still to be worked out by a process of evolution."

DEAR DORIS—

I am snatching a moment's time to write you just a few lines. When I say snatching time I mean it literally. Really, Doris, I have been so busy lately, trying to get ready to join you next week, that I haven't had time to think.

Yesterday afternoon, after having a manicure at the Chalifoux Beauty shops, I walked through the Blouse Shop. And I saw so many lovely blouses there I must tell you about them.

One blouse of fine voile had a frill down the front. The frill was knife pleated and edged with very fine lace. It was made purposely for your navy blue surplus sweater. And it is only $2.98!

For sport wear, they are showing some smart colored blouses. One of copen has the ever popular white frill down the front and the cuffs are knife pleated. These blouses are only $2.29

Then I noticed a dear little blouse of georgette crepe with fine val lace trimming. This blouse is decidedly different. It has a round neck, buttons in the back, and the sleeves are so quaint—they come just to the elbow and have val lace set in so pretty. This blouse is $7.50.

And there are a hundred and one other smart different styles. One prettier than the other. Don't you want me to bring you down a few? Just drop me a line and I will be glad to.

Lovingly,

MARY.

AUTOMOBILES

The abuse an Overland car will stand is unbelievable. This was clearly shown on Monday when the stock Overland 4—the car that climbed to the highest point on Mount Washington—gracefully climbed the City Hall steps, greeted Mayor Thompson, turned about and calmly, came down. A little stunt like climbing up City Hall steps seemed just play for the Overland. Such stunts are repeated day by day the world over by Overlands.

The Overland is such an easy car to handle that women drivers are most enthusiastic over it. As one woman said while visiting our showroom the other day: The longer I ride in my Overland, the better I like it.

Texas Troops Turn Out Galveston Officials—General Wolters Is Dictator

GALVESTON, Tex., July 22.—Brigadier-General J. A. Wolters, (inset) is military dictator of Galveston. The city has been placed completely under military rule by proclamation of Governor W. P. Hobby. Longshoremen have been on strike for more than three months but there has been no disorder. Martial law was proclaimed over the heated protests of the city council, which threatened injunction proceedings.

Hobby in his proclamation said that the police commissioners and Police Judge O'Dell were not cooperating with the militia. The troops were asked for by the Open Shop association. City officials, fighting the military rule, seem to have the support of practically the whole city. Clashes between indignant citizens and the troops are feared. Acting on Hobby's instructions, Wolters disbanded the entire police force, from chief down, ordered Judge O'Dell from the bench, stripped the mayor, city attorney and four commissioners of all their power and took complete command. City Attorney Anderson and the commissioners in an open statement charge that the military occupation is the result of the Open Shop association's anti-union fight. The open shop question has become the greatest political issue in Texas. Photo shows the national guard camp on the Galveston beach, in Menard park.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys
Advises Dr. Carey

Thousands Die Every Year Because They Allow Poisonous Deposits to Accumulate in Kidneys

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh cathartics, says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough.

For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder ailments and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health.

If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffs under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sallow skin you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away.

It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder diseases and in the medicine you can always depend upon. Fred Howard, 157 Central St., can supply you.—Adv.

fruit is to wrap a towel out of water as hot as one can bear it. Wrap the towel around the bottle bringing it up from the bottom to meet on one side. This completely covers the jar and also makes a firm and safe handle to grasp while filling.

There is absolutely no danger of breaking the glass as the damp towel excludes all air.

Meat for Tomorrow

Breakfast—Cantaloupe, creamed dried beef, baking powder biscuits, coffee.

Luncheon—Shrimp imp, toasted crackers, fruit salad, tea.

Dinner—Broiled steak, mashed potatoes, kohl-rabi, romaine salad, floating island, coffee.

My Own Recipes

The shrimp dish in the luncheon menu can be served on hot toast or on soda crackers. If toast is used it should be made of bread but about one-fourth of an inch thick, the crusts removed and the bread quickly toasted. There is toast and toast, one made the right way (as I see it) and the other made any old way. The fruit salad is made of any and all fruits carefully diced and served with a cooked salad dressing. If whipped cream is at hand so much the better, but the thing to guard against in a dressing for fruit is too much mustard.

SHRIMP IMP

1 cup shrimps (fresh or canned)
1 cup cooked peas
2 cups milk
1½ tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt (if canned shrimps are used)
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 egg
Melt butter, add flour and slowly

add milk. Add salt and paprika. If fresh shrimps are used they are usually very salty and even after freshening will require little salt. When the white sauce is thick, add shrimps and peas. Put over hot water for ten or fifteen minutes until the shrimps and peas are thoroughly heated. Beat egg slightly and stir in just before serving. The egg may be omitted. Serve on toast or crackers.

KOHL-RABI

6 kohl-rabi
1 cup white sauce
Wash and pare vegetables. Cut in thin slices. Cook in salted boiling water until tender. Drain and add to white sauce. Kohl-rabi is a variety of cabbage and is a delicious vegetable. It should be used when young and tender.

Rosindale Woman Recommends

This Prescription

Mrs. Albert J. Patch of Rosindale, Mass., writes: "Before taking your medicine (Dr. True's Elixir) I was troubled with what I thought stomach trouble. I had that terrible gnawing in my stomach nearly all the time. Within half an hour after eating a hearty meal, I would have that same disagreeable feeling. I was losing in weight every day. After taking your medicine (Dr. True's Elixir) I was relieved of the terrible gnawing in my stomach, expelled worms, and I felt like a new person in many ways, and would heartily recommend it to any one suffering as I did." Headaches, tired feeling, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, constipation can be relieved, if you take the prescription known as Dr. True's Elixir, The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, ever since 1831—over 65 years' reputation. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY OF ITS OWN

Should you receive a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley the sender pays you a subtle compliment, for this blossom signifies unconscious sweetness in the language of the flowers. It also represents the return of happiness.

Lily-of-the-valley is one of the flowers dedicated to the Virgin Mary and is also known as Our Lady's tears.

Used For Medicine

The ancients attributed great medicinal properties to this plant. A delicious, perfumed liquid was distilled from the flowers, which, it is said, was a remedy for nervous disorders. This liquid was considered so valuable that it was kept only in bottles of silver or gold.

In the middle ages, beauty doctors prescribed the blossoms of the lily-of-the-valley gathered before sunrise and rubbed on the face as a cure for freckles. In some English counties, a superstition is found that the person who transplants a bed of these lilies will die within the next year.

Legend of Origin

The legend of the origin of this flower tells of a hermit, St. Leonard, who lived about 500 A.D. in the forest of Louvain, in France. Near him dwelt a huge dragon, and often terrible struggles took place between them. The beast, representing temptation, was driven back continually until it finally disappeared. Where the combats took place, beds of lilies-of-the-valley sprang up, marking the place where the blood of the holy man had sprinkled the ground.

Grave Issues Are Involved

be read and pondered by all the American people within the confines of the United States but also by all other civilized nations. Here today you will chart the course to be followed by the republican party in the great electoral contest which lies before us and will declare your purposes and those of the party you lead when the authority of government is once more committed to our keeping.

We await this declaration untroubled by any doubts and with the most entire confidence. All who are familiar with your character and career, and most especially those who have taken part with you in public service know beyond a peradventure that you are a patriotic American, imbued with the spirit of the great leaders of the past, of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt, whose services to the American people have become forever memorable in our history. You will always, and instinctively, in meeting the difficult questions and weighty responsibilities which confront you, think with complete unselfishness of your country and your country's interests first, a high qualification for one so called office not too familiar to us of late and therefore peculiarly necessary at this moment. You will, we are certain, be ever faithful to the finest traditions of the republican party and at the same time, we are equally sure that you are wisely tolerant and open-minded, in sympathy with the best movements of the time, looking forward to the future and its needs but never unmindful of the great basic principles upon which the builders of the republic laid the foundation of our government.

Domestic and economic questions of extreme complexity and difficulty must be dealt with at once in such a way as to meet the needs of the time. We shall not attempt to discuss these questions in any detail because we know that you will declare your policies in regard to them in accordance not only with the lifelong principles of the republican party but also with the opinions recently declared by the republican convention at Chicago. It is not for us to enumerate them to you, for it is to you we look to set forth the proper policies to be pursued by the republican party both in the campaign and when charged with the responsibility of administration and legislation. Our immediate duty and that of all republicans and all true Americans who are thinking of the problems and perils of the present and of the future is to give you such generous and complete support that when you take up the duties of the great office for which you have been nominated, you will find a house and senate in full sympathy with your purposes and ready to aid you in every way in carrying them to fulfillment.

In defense of freedom and civilization and to vindicate our own invaded rights we entered upon the war with Germany and although you were tardy in taking part in that great conflict we came upon the field of action in time to turn the scale for right and liberty. Not content with aiding Europe to bring to pass the peace which all desired after victory was won, Mr. Wilson undertook to make us members of an alliance with foreign powers in definite in extent and containing provisions which threatened the independence, the sovereignty and the safety of the United States. This effort on the part of the president was arrested by the action of the republicans of the senate, who proposed protecting reservations which he defeated together with the treaty itself. In that work, you, sir, took a conspicuous part and we know that you were in full accord with the belief of your republican colleagues that the League of Nations as proposed by Mr. Wilson and upon which he and his party still insist ought never to be accepted by the American people.

No national campaign for the presidency has ever evolved graver issues than this one, which now lies before us. Upon you, sir, will rest the great duty and heavy burden of executive authority. We look to you in full confidence to lead us and the people of our beloved country out from the darkness and confusion which the war has brought upon mankind into the light which shines upon a nation where peace reigns and the love of justice, of law and of order rules in the hearts of the people. Then we can again take up the work of advancing the United States along the broad road that leads to success, the road which we have followed for more than a century. Then indeed we shall not only rise to still loftier heights of achievement for ourselves, but be enabled to render the largest and finest service to humanity.

OLD POSTAL MEN NOT TO RETIRE ON AUG. 22

BOSTON, July 22.—Postal employees who have reached the retirement age, but who are still efficient, have apparently won their fight to be allowed to remain in the service and not be automatically retired on Aug. 22.

This is indicated in orders received yesterday by postoffice officials in this city and signed by Postmaster-General Burleson, which ask that all applications for continuance in office, with recommendations from supervisory officers, shall be forwarded at once to Washington.

This order, postal authorities admit, shows a radical change of front from the announced intention by Postmaster General Burleson a short time ago, to pension all those who are beyond the age limit. The head of the department stated that he would not certify to the civil service commission any person 65 years of age or over, although the act passed by congress on May 22 stated specifically that those who "by reason of his or her efficiency and willingness to remain" would be "advantageous to the public service," might be retained.

Out of 131 employees in the Boston postal district, it was said last night that about 65 per cent. will be recommended by their superiors as fit and willing to keep at work. In addition, there are 66 men in the railway mail service who come within the retiring act, and it is believed fully two-thirds of this number will be allowed to stay for the two more years.

dition that it be accepted; two more were undecided, and one, the brotherhood of railway telegraphers, had decided to reject the award and was said to be preparing for a strike ballot.

Efforts to compromise the attitudes of the various brotherhoods were under way this morning and hope for a report by the union chiefs to the 1000 general chairmen, was entertained. It was pointed out that, should no agreement be reached by the heads of the brotherhoods, each organization might take individual action on the award.

Despite the differences of opinion among the leaders, the union chiefs reiterated today that there was no danger of an immediate and concerted strike. They also were inclined to believe that the efforts of members of the Chicago Yardsmen's Association, 150 of whom struck in Chicago yesterday, to bring about a general walkout and declared that sporadic strikes will be fought to the last ditch by the international unions.

The railway labor board, which yesterday declined to reopen the railway wage cases at the request of the brotherhoods and expressed the opinion that it had done all possible in the case of the railroad employees, today began

Simply Worn Out

How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact:

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells that would unfit me entirely for my household. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic and that I would have to have an operation. That was a awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children. So one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years.—Mrs. H. Koryak, 617 Ellis Blvd., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my sister came to see me and told me about your medicine—said it cured her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also do sewing for other people. I will take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicine to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish.—Mrs. Paul Harzrus, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohio.

hearings on the application for increased pay of 10,000 employees of the American Express Co., who were not included in the railway men's award.

The board declared that reopening the investigation would delay the back pay award, which they believe the workers should receive in their August 1 pay envelopes. The award was made retroactive to May 1, and the back pay is estimated to average about $200 apiece for the workers benefited by the increases.

SWITCHING CREWS

OF C. B. & A. QUIT

DENVER, Colo., July 21.—Eight switching crews of three firemen each, representing the entire night force of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road here, quit work at midnight. Railroad officials said there was no explanation and the action came without warning. They also said the men are members of the recently formed railroad union.

TO REPAIR FIRE DAMAGE

A permit to repair damage caused by the recent fire in their store in John street has been issued Cherry & Webb by the inspector of buildings at city hall. The work is being done by Arthur V. Hinchey and includes plastering, the installation of new windows and a new slate roof. The estimated cost of the repairs is $1500.

NEW WATERPOWER ACT TO BE DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Amendment of the new waterpower act so as to exclude the national parks from its provisions, will be demanded of congress at its next session, it is announced by Robert Sterling Yard, executive secretary of the National Parks association. Mr. Yard also says that a fight will be made to have congress reject pending legislation, which he asserts, opens the way for irrigation projects to draw on the parks for water.

Without amendment, Mr. Yard says the waterpower act is "the death warrant of our national parks system," because all government owned land and reservations are embraced within its terms, making it possible for private interests to erect dams, power-houses, transmission lines and other structures by obtaining leases from the federal waterpower commission.

It was not until the waterpower bill reached President Wilson for approval that discovery was made by conservationists that national parks would be affected, and now the fight, Mr. Yard says, will be made for its amendment.

Besides the effort to change the waterpower act, Mr. Yard says an effort will be made to prevent favorable action on pending legislation, granting permission to private interests to build an irrigation reservoir in an obscure swamp in the southwestern corner of the Yellowstone national park, miles from any road. This measure, he asserts, would be the opening wedge for a number of irrigation plans for other national parks.

Mr. Yard anticipates that other legislation, including a proposal for damming Yellowstone lake, will be brought before congress, all of which he contends would tend to destroy the beauty of America's playgrounds. "The conservation associations, and many institutions throughout the

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Dows, druggist, and Fred Howard, druggist, have been appointed agents for Allenchu in this vicinity with the understanding that they will truly return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.—Adv.

SECOND NUMBER OF CAMP NAB-NASSETT "SKEETER" IS A REAL LIVE EDITION

This year's second issue of the Y.M.C.A. Camp Nabnassett "Skeeter" has just been issued. This number proves very interesting and contains the continued story by Roland Bing Falls on the "Batville baseball team," a group of editorialists by the editor-in-chief, C. W. Morse, a lively sporting section by the sporting editor, W. P. Doggett, a page of knockouts and another of cartoons by "Jack" Barry.

There are now 100 boys in camp. This means that the camp is full to capacity, but through a better system of handling at meal times and on other occasions there is not the discomfort experienced with a large number of boys in previous years.

Baseball is gaining headway under the leadership of Bing Falls. The camp team has won four games and lost two for an average of 66.66. There are many more games on the schedule.

Mr. Kruef of the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., who is touring the camps in this part of the country as representative of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps, paid a visit to camp and gave an exhibition of shooting with a shotgun as well as a rifle.

The camp baseball team has defeated the "Husslers" of Graniteville by the score of 11 to 5 and the Forge Village team, 19 to 8, and lost to the Graniteville A.C. by the score of 16 to 2. In a return game with Forge Village the Y.M.C.A. team won by the score of 14 to 6.

In the last tent shoot at camp, tent No. 3 won the honors, getting 47 out of a possible 50. Ray McKittrick was the representative.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

MR. TINGALING GETS A REST

"But what shall I do while you are fixing my suit?" asked Tingaling, the fairy landlord, of Oliver Oriole, who had offered to put in gussets, as Tingaling was getting so round and fat his clothes no longer fitted.

Oliver thought a minute, then suddenly he had a bright idea. "Go to bed," he suggested. "I'll call Mrs. Oriole to turn down the covers, and you can crawl in until your suit is finished. Nick and Nancy can wait here with me, and I'll tell them a story while you're resting."

"Oh," yawned Tingaling slipping off about that, as I never was in one. Oliver cut out the gussets just the right shape, then set to work. Nancy threaded the needles and Nick snipped threads and pulled out bastings.

"B-z-z-z-z," scored Tingaling in the spare room, the sounds coming down the hall.

"Snip, snip, snip," went the scissors. "Punch, punch, punch," wrote Oliver's needle.

But there were other sounds! Much talking! Because, after the twins had asked about Jacko (but Oliver declared he didn't know a thing about him).

MRS. ORIOLE TOOK TINGALING OFF TO HER SPARE ROOM, WHERE HE WAS SOON SNORING LOUDLY.

his coat. "It sounds good to me. Children, you can tell Oliver about your monkey and perhaps he may be able to help you to find him. Now, Oliver, where shall I go?"

Mrs. Oriole had appeared by this time, so she took Tingaling off to her spare room, where he was soon snoring loudly. The breeze swayed the branch up and down, and who I should like to know, could stay awake under such circumstances? It was better than being swung in a hammock, or riding over billowy waves, or even sailing in an aeroplane, although I'm not so sure the bird tailor said he knew a poem and, if the children would like to hear it, he'd start right in.

Can you wait till tomorrow to hear it?

YOUR GIRL'S APPETITE

When your growing daughter's appetite becomes fickle and she shows a desire for sour, starchy or chalky articles, look after the condition of her blood.

If she is pale and languid, nervous, without ambition and irritable, her blood is unable to meet the demands made upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific remedy for the form of anemia, or lack of blood that afflicts growing girls and proper treatment with these pills will not only correct the trouble but prevent it from progressing into a worse form.

During her teens, a girl lays the foundation for her future health. Lack of blood at this time may rob her of robust, healthy womanhood. It is of the greatest importance to administer to girls who grow pale and weak a safe, non-alcoholic tonic and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills meet every requirement of the most careful mother.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and enable it to carry renewed health and strength to every part of the body. These pills are recommended wherever a tonic is needed.

Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet "Building Up the Blood." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—ADVA

BATTERY B MAY GO TO WASHINGTON

On a visit to Plymouth, Vt., where he spent a day with Governor Coolidge, Captain MacEyrane of the local battery discussed with the vice presidential candidate the possibility of the Lowell battery acting as special escort in the inaugural ceremony in the event of republican success.

Because plans for participation in the inaugural parade are taking shape, Battery B is the first one of the state to send in requisitions for uniforms to Boston.

With a representative of Sousa's band Captain MacEyrane made arrangements yesterday at two local hotels for accommodations of the 70 musicians of the band who will visit this city on Aug. 13. Mayor Thompson and Lieut. Commander Sousa will be entertained at dinner by the officers of the battery on that date.

POTATO CHIP FACTORY BURNED

The Granite State potato chip factory, located on North Broadway between Salem Depot and Canobie lake section in Salem, N. H., and owned by William T. Croft of this city, was burned to the ground late yesterday afternoon. The fire started around the kettle used to fry the potatoes and as soon as the blaze was discovered an alarm was sent in, but when the firemen reached the premises the flames were bursting through the roof. The fire fighters removed the desk which contained papers and other valuables and then gave their attention to keeping the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. The loss will be heavy for besides the building the machinery in the plant as well as 60 barrels of potatoes and 25 barrels of oil valued at over $2000 were destroyed. Mr. Croft will rebuild his plant and in the meantime he will continue the manufacture of chips in temporary quarters.

SIMPLICITY IN DANCING

World's Most Famous Dancer Will Discuss Golden Rules of His Art

"Maurice is the most famous ballroom dancer in the world. His name was a household word in the ballrooms not only of New York but also of Paris and London some years before the war.

LEONORA HUGHES

What he has to say, therefore, about modern dancing must carry considerable weight.

So says the Dancing Times, a monthly London magazine devoted to the terpsichorean art, in writing of Maurice in its June issue this year.

Maurice is a handsome young American of French ancestry, who is as much admired and feared in London and Paris as he is in New York.

Following upon his successful season of exhibition dancing in "The Cascades," in New York, Maurice and his pretty partner, Miss Leonora Hughes, have been the reigning sensation in the famous Piccadilly restaurant in London. Later they go to Aix-les-Bains.

The European representative of this paper has secured from Maurice three signed articles and his latest dancing photographs taken in London. The articles will be as follows: "Bolshevism in the Ballroom," "Simplicity in Dancing," "Three Golden Rules of the Dance." The Sun will print the first of these articles on the woman's page Saturday.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher Honestly advertised, Honestly placed before the public and from which he Honestly expects to receive his reward.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Ten years without a corn

Countless people boast that record now.

Years ago they started using Blue-jay. Never since has a corn pained twice. And never has a corn stayed a week.

You can quickly prove that corns are needless. Millions have already done it. Think what it means.

No more paring, no more pain, no more unsightly pads. Dainty shoes without unhappy hours.

Apply a touch of liquid Blue-jay or a Blue-jay plaster.

The corn pain will end. And soon the whole corn will loosen and come out.

The action is gentle but sure. Blue-jay is the scientific method, created by this world-famed laboratory.

It is not like the methods which are harsh and crude.

Try Blue-jay on one corn. Buy it tonight from your druggist. Live the rest of your life without corns.

FOR FOUR-FOLD PLAN

Legioners to Fight for Pro-Bonus Stand—Contests for Offices Develop

The bonus proposition for service men will be one of the most important topics to be discussed at the state convention of the American Legion, which will be held next month at Springfield. This subject is being revived with vigor by the veterans who will attend the state sessions as delegates from their respective posts and an intensive campaign already is under way to carry the bonus fight to the convention once more, this time to go on record unconditionally in favor of it.

Recent Previous Stands

The disposition made of the subject at the last department convention at Worcester and the similar stand taken by the national meeting at Minneapolis was far from satisfactory to the rank and file of the legion. In plain terms they told their delegates so on their return from both sessions.

After what appeared to be "passing the buck" between the heads of the legion and congress, a popular demand compelled the national body to bring the matter to the attention of congress with the result that a four-fold plan of adjusted compensation was presented.

The fate of this plan is known to all legioners, who by their muteness condemned the action congress took in laying the whole proposition over until the next session in December. The veterans interpreted this move by congress as an attempt to keep the service men out of the presidential campaign as a potent factor, in their resentment, legion members from all parts of the state intend to bring the whole matter to the floor of the state convention and force the Massachusetts department to take the lead in making the bonus a live issue.

Without question, if this battle is won by the bonus advocates it will bind the Massachusetts delegates to the national convention at Cleveland in September to open fire before the national body and resurrect what seemed to many a dormant topic and make something to talk about besides politics.

Candidates for the various state department offices are being mentioned daily, some of the boomlets finding fair sailing while others collapse with fair refusal of the nominees to allow their names to be used in connection with the political side of the legion.

Gen. John H. Sherburne, known to all legioners, is being boosted for the commandship. He has neither denied nor affirmed his attitude yet and it is expected his friends will continue to push his candidacy vigorously confident that he is the logical man for the berth. Sherburne's activities as head of the state commission on the necessities of life in pursuing the frontiers, have made him a prominent figure to be reckoned with if he consents to run.

From Essex county comes the A. Platt Andrew boom. Andrew hails from Gloucester and is the present first vice commander of the state department. He is popular and has friends throughout the state. His work overseas, long before the United States entered the war, in organizing the American field service for the French, won commendation.

Luther W. Faulkner, commander of Lowell post, has been mentioned as one of two likely candidates for the office of vice commander.

Major James T. Duane of Clinton is another service man with an enviable record whose supporters are insistent that he consent to be a candidate. His campaign was launched almost simultaneously at Worcester and Boston. For many months "Jimmy" Duane, as he is popularly called, has been assisting a multitude of service men through his position as head of the state bonus department at the state house, and as director of the state welfare committee of the legion. He is regarded as a formidable candidate and if he remains in the contest, may win.

Col. Thomas F. Foley of Worcester, beloved by all Worcester veterans, has steadfastly refused to sanction the campaign which legioners in all sections of the state have taken up voluntarily in his behalf. It is generally conceded that Foley would defeat any opponent for the position, but his approval is still wanting.

Others whose hats are in the ring are William J. Jennings, commander of All-Dorchester post, a veteran of three wars and popular with the rank and file of the organization; Commander Frank Patch of Hammond post, Dorchester.

It's funny that females are chickens before marriage, pees on the house in noon, and old hens six months after marriage.

STOP COAL EXPORTS

Already The Sun has spoken quite plainly on the outrageous coal situation in which the domestic coal supply is shipped abroad—to Italy, France, Spain, Sweden, Brazil, Argentina, Chili and other countries, while the domestic consumer cannot secure enough to keep the wheels of industry running, unless he pays a price higher than that offered by the representatives of foreign nations assembled at Hampton Roads.

There is every evidence of profiteering in coal by the exporters—the mine operators and the three carrying railroads that have been dumping vast quantities of coal at Hampton Roads and selling it to the highest bidder, mainly foreigners. "Any American buyer can get all the coal he wants in Hampton Roads," declared a prominent Norfolk exporter, "provided he will pay the price."

That statement alone should bring down the prompt action of the government to punish the profiteers who tell the American consumer that if he wants to buy American coal, he can do so only by paying a higher price than is offered by foreign nations whose supply has been long ago exhausted by the operations of war.

Since when did it happen that foreigners have as much right to the necessities of life produced on American soil as have our own citizens? The republican party has a protective policy intended to protect domestic industries against foreign competition. More important is it, however, to protect the American people against foreign competition in the coal supply of the nation extracted from American mines, shipped over American railroads and delivered to foreigners at the government piers at Hampton Roads.

While New England and other parts of the country have been clamoring for more coal, and while industries are at the point of shutting down for want of coal, the mine operators and the railroads under their control, delivered at Hampton Roads 1,742,222 tons of coal in March, 1,826,129 tons in April and an increasing amount every month since. Thus the coal supply of the nation is being shipped abroad while the country is threatened with a suspension of industry for lack of coal.

It is alleged that the coal scarcity is due to a shortage of coal cars; but the fact remains that contracts for coal at the mine made early in the year are yet to be filled and are being now neglected.

The Interstate Commerce commission on June 24 issued a priority order in favor of coal shipments to New England, but the American buyer must first get his coal to the pier and then get his ship, and if he has both in readiness, he may get a place for loading, while the loaded ships of foreign nations move out only to give way to others waiting to be loaded.

This business, this exportation of the nation's coal supply, is apparently conducted with the full approval of the administration at Washington. Thus far there has been no word from Washington to stop the export of coal. It is asked whether the president can stop or even limit the export; but of that there is no doubt whatever. We are still officially at war and President Wilson in the exercise of his executive authority as president and commander in chief of the army and navy can place an embargo on the export of coal at any moment.

Why does he not do it? Is he more interested in the foreign nations that are carrying off our coal than in the people of these United States whose safety and interests should have first claim upon government protection?

Even on the ground of profiteering the coal exporters are said to be reaping profits amounting in some cases to 2500 per cent.

Where now is Attorney General Palmer or the Department of Justice, that neither sees fit to move in this matter? But undoubtedly both may feel that it is the business of the president and peculiarly his duty to place an embargo on the export of coal until such times as the domestic needs are satisfied.

Undoubtedly he wishes to see Cox and Roosevelt elected in November, but if he does not move promptly to relieve this coal situation, he will make their success absolutely impossible.

Already the people of the entire nation are being fleeced by the coal profiteers and no government official has lifted a hand or uttered a word to stop the outrage that is being perpetrated upon the American people.

What is demanded is an embargo on the export of coal to prevent the robbery of the American people and the suspension of some of the most important industries, leaving vast numbers of people idle and at the point of starvation.

OVER THE PEAK

Assurances have been given so many times that the cost of living had reached its peak and would soon show a decline that people are likely to take with a large grain of salt any similar statements that may be put forth. Nevertheless, there are reliable indications that at last prices are to cease—possibly already have ceased—to mount upward and that they are destined to begin to descend to levels more nearly approaching those that existed previous to the war.

As we all know, woolen mills are closed for lack of orders. The leather industry has been hard hit by the slackening of demand for shoes. Some time ago there was a heavy decline in the silk market, and last week came a break in wheat prices caused by the fact that a large part of the 1919 grain crop is still on the farms and a bumper harvest is soon to be gathered.

It is possible that all of these happenings will bear some other interpretation, but the most reasonable explanation of them is, that at last production has in some measure caught up with the demands of buyers, and that as a consequence, in the near future merchants will seek for purchasers by lowering prices instead of raising them and standing by their doors and watching crowds flock in to buy.

The deflation of credits, ordered by the Federal Reserve bank authorities, is going on all the time, and this undoubtedly must result in a certain, if gradual, reduction in the cost of commodities.

Altogether the ultimate consumer, and the business man and producer as well, can look with complacency upon the forces that seem to be silently yet steadily moving to bring costs back to a saner and more reasonable level.

James A. Patten, former "king of the grain pit," predicts that flour, potatoes and foodstuffs generally will come down by next winter and asserts that the reduction in clothing prices has come to stay.

He says the talk of farm labor shortage is exaggerated and, all in all, takes a view of the future that is pleasant for the housewife and the man on the payroll to contemplate.

Patten is just voicing his own opinions. What are they worth? Is he right or is he wrong?

Well, Patten is 65 years of age and has reached the period of life when he carefully weighs what he says.

Moreover, Patten is a wealthy man and he made his money by being able to outguess his fellow man on the very thing on which he is talking, namely, food prices. Patten achieved fame as a wheat speculator on the Chicago board of trade.

He backed his guesses time and again with his money, and won. His predictions look good and safe. His personality and achievements make them worth while. The reasons he gives substantiate his views. We shall see whether his predictions come true.

A DAY OF EXAGGERATION

The story is told of Mark Twain that, when someone called his attention to a report that had appeared in the newspapers that he was dead, he remarked that the "report is slightly exaggerated." Taking Mark's standard as a basis we might safely conclude that "slight exaggeration" is the proper description to use in referring to many of the conditions in the world around us as we see them from day to day.

The war troubled us so suddenly out of a world of little things into a new world of the boundaries of which we have not yet been able to take cognizance, and it did it with such despatch and thoroughness, that we scarcely realize our present position. As a consequence, having lost most of our old standards, we exaggerate. We exaggerate in dress. Styles that we see on the streets would have been considered the products of disordered imaginations a few years ago. An era is here of exaggeration in literature. A good part of the books of fiction issued by the press for idle readers, deals with abnormal situations. The art of treating simple men and women in a way to make their actions interesting seems to have been lost by fiction writers. Exaggeration long ago invaded the stage. Musical comedy, that is neither musical nor humorous and that deals mainly with ludicrous sex situations, is the only attraction that can draw a crowd.

Wages are exaggerated, incomes are exaggerated, we manufacture millionaires at the rate of one or two every minute and we dash about the country at exaggerated rates of speed that our ancestors never dreamed of.

Sometime, of course, we shall get back to earth again, and we shall then be fully as comfortable, if not more so, than at any stage of the exaggeration period.

THE RAILROAD AWARD

The railroad men would be very foolish to make any move towards a strike as a protest against the alleged inadequacy of the amount of the award. They should remember that prices which mean wages also are beginning to come down. If a railroad strike were declared now, it would probably be the last that would ever be tolerated on the railroads of this country. There is a limit to what the people will stand. It is understood to be exceeded when any body of men undertakes to override the government and to paralyze the industries of the country.

Governor Cox, photographed on a visit to his farm after being nominated for president, seems very ridiculous to the eye of the Courier-Citizen editor; but why overlook the ludicrous pose of Governor Coolidge photographed in the role of farmer on his father's farm in Vermont? If the appeal is to the agricultural vote, we surmise that the farmers will put their faith in Cox rather than Coolidge despite the rivalry of republican organs.

With a Grecian army battering down his doors, alien warships guarding his coasts, and foreigners in control of the government offices in Constantinople, the Sick Man of Europe gravely announces that he is willing now to sign the peace treaty. He seems to be in the position of a man trying to negotiate an insurance policy while his house is burning.

The Farmer-Labor candidate for president shows considerable egotism when he announces that he doesn't wish to take advantage of Candidate Debs by running against him while he is in jail. Does he really harbor the delusion that his chances of being elected are so good that he is in a position to take advantage of the imprisoned socialist leader?

If you are envying the people who are witnessing the yacht races from sailing craft off Sandy Hook, remember that if you were there you would probably be seasick, and that anyway you may get a really better idea of what is going on by sitting in the cool shade of your own vine and fig tree and reading the newspapers.

A correspondent writes to a Boston paper to ask: "What is our country coming to?" That's easy—a presidential election, inauguration of Cox and Roosevelt and four years of prosperity and good government for everybody.

If Lowell were backward in growing during the ten year census period, Middlesex county wasn't, and its population is now greater than that of two New England states combined.

The railroad men do not need to worry about funds to pay vacation expenses. It is already for them in the hands of the corporations to be paid over under the wage award that is made retroactive to May 1.

Civil service for municipal laborers and some other employees appears to be a flat failure. There should be some reasonable exceptions to the ironclad rules.

Perhaps Lowell's election commissioners may take a hint from the announcement that registering places for women voters are to be opened in Boston, August 2.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Nothing is said now that has not been said before."

A peach of a girl with a heart of stone is a risky combination for marital ties.

Chelmsford man says Lowell solons should shoo the farmer into the public market. Some job, well say.

If all these pretty women questioned in the Elwell case took as much interest in his life as they take in his death, that old boy is missing a whole lot by being dead.

True as Preaching

Two little girls were playing in the street when an automobile was seen approaching. "Loretta, the elder, said to her sister: 'Look out, Sophia, or the automobile will run over you and you will never be alive again as long as you live.'"—Courier-Journal.

Well—Who Cares?

Parcel Post Package

A clerk in the employ of a New York business man, while a fair worker, is yet an individual of pronounced eccentricity. One day a wire basket fell off the top of the clerk's desk and scratched his cheek. Not having any compass at hand he slapped on three 2-cent stamps and continued his work. A few minutes later he had occasion to take a paper to his employer's private office. When he entered the "old man," observing the postage stamps on the clerk's cheek, fixed him with an astonished stare. "Look here, Tom," he exclaimed, "you are carrying too much postage for second class matter!"

Such is Life

Mrs. Sallie Miranda Magoon is a hard working woman. She toils early and late, and, so her neighbor says, has the cleanest house in town. Does all her own washing, and mending, and sewing. Helps the kids with their studies at night. But—Mr. Magoon is the kind of a guy who would as soon go to work as cut out his right eye!

Mrs. Sarah Amanda McSweeney doesn't do a lick of work. She is too busy with her bridge and her matinees, and her receptions, and her luncheons. She knows less about washing dishes and darning socks than she knows about the flora and fauna of Neptune. But—Mr. McSweeney is a whale when it comes to tackling work. He digs early and he digs late, and believe you me, he sure does bring home the bacon!

Little Johnnie O'Toole had a day who thought a boy was intended by nature to labor. Johnnie was yanked out of school when he was nine and set to grubbing for a living. But—John O'Toole now measures his wealth by the bale, and they have to put in a larger safe down at the bank to keep his kale.

Pa Is Scholarly

Pa Aakitt had read every word in the evening edition of the Morning Glory. He was restless—with nothing to do till tomorrow.

"Say, Thomas, let's play checkers. Ratcha a quarter I win the first game!" he said to his only son.

"All right, Pa," and Tommy dropped his books with alacrity. But not for long.

"William, Tommy must finish his lesson first—then checkers. Back to your books, Thomas," said ma, with every evidence of being the boss of the house. Only she wasn't.

"Aw!" growled Tommy. "But, pa, maybe if you help me, I might get through sooner."

"Huh! More doggone idiotic fool questions. Can't I—"

"All right, then, pa. I guess I can't play."

"Oh, well. Fire away. Who was—where was—what was—Out with it."

"Well," laughed Tommy. "Tell me all you know about Confucius, Pa."

"Confucius—Confucius. Oh, Confucius is the Latin for the verb 'confuse.' Confuse—confuse—confuse."

Tommy looked with admiration at his learned father, who caught the look.

"Ahem! Confucius—confucius—confucius," continued Pa superiorly.

Mrs. Aakitt choked slightly and left the room. Tommy wrote all this information down for the next day's use and doubtful result.

"Now, Pa. Who was the mother of George Washington?"

"Why, Mrs. Washington, of course. You're pretty stupid for being my son," said Pa, with a frown.

Two minutes later both were in the depths of a thrilling checker game.

A Name in the Sand

Along I walked the ocean strand; A pebble shed was in my hand; I stopped and wrote upon the sand My name—the year, the day. As onward from the spot I passed, An oncoming foot behind I cast— A wave came rolling, high and fast, And washed my lines away.

And so, methought, 'Twill shortly be With every mark on earth from me; A wave of dark oblivion's set, Will sweep across the place, Where I have trod the sandy shore Of time—and been to be no more— Of me, my name, the name I bore, To leave no track nor trace.

And yet, with life who counts the sands, And feels the waters in his hands, I inscribed against my name, Of all this mortal part has wrought, Of all this thinking soul has thought, And from these fleeting moments—

For glory or for shame.—H. F. Gould.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I ran across one of the most unusual Christian names the other evening that it has ever been my lot to hear. It is a pretty good name, as names go, but I doubt if in one case out of a hundred the intelligent compositor and argus-eyed proofreader would let it get into type spelled correctly. When the young lady who bears the name was introduced to me I caught the word "Zephyr" as being the one that her parents had fastened upon her when she was christened. The name didn't fit—she was not zephyrlike—but there isn't anything uncommon about that. But the name didn't sound exactly like "Zephyr" after all. Later, at the risk of giving offence, I asked for further information. As she pronounced her name I was at a loss to know how it might be spelled. Therefore, I handed her a pencil and asked her if she would write it for me. Here is what was on the card as she handed it back to me: Miss Sta—.

As to pronouncing it, she told me that the name is spoken just as it is spelled—S-t-a—each letter being pronounced as though it stood separately, with the "a" long. I asked the young woman how she happened to be blessed with such an unusual name, and on the whole, euphonious name, and she replied that she did not know, but that she believed it was sort of a family heirloom that had been borne by some of her ancestors. The name is unique, but it seems to me that any young woman might prefer to bear it instead of being one of the innumerable host of "Violetts," "Pansies," "Pearls," "Daisies." But, speaking of unusual names, I have another friend, who claims to be the seventh son of a seventh son. His own name is Obediah and his six brothers were christened, Ezekiel, Ebenezer, Jotham, Joshua, Jonas and Joel—the latter two being names of twins.

Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department tells me that Sunday baseball is working out most successfully in Lowell and that both the general public and the young men and boys who participate in the games have found general enjoyment and pleasure in this relaxing of the rigidity of laws governing the Sabbath. Although in many instances the crowds which have attended Sunday games on some of the larger commons and playgrounds have numbered well into the thousands, nevertheless, there has been no tumultuous shouting or undue noise such as many of the opponents of Sunday baseball had predicted. The only difficulty with which the park department had to contend at first in the regulation of the Sunday sports law was the assignment of grounds. Very often a number of teams would want the same grounds on the same day and it was frequently a delicate proposition to satisfy them all. Now, however, the park department keeps track of all Sunday games and is thus able to allot the commons to various teams in their proper turn.

CORNER STONE FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

The corner stone of the new high school building in Kirk street will be laid within a short time, according to plans of the high school building commission. Architect Henry L. Bourke has been instructed to secure a weather-vane box which can be hermetically sealed and this will be sunk into the masonry at one of the corners of the building. It will contain documents pertaining to the construction of the school. The commission has not yet determined whether there will be formal exercises in connection with the laying of the corner stone.

COLUMBUS IN DEMOCRATIC HANDS

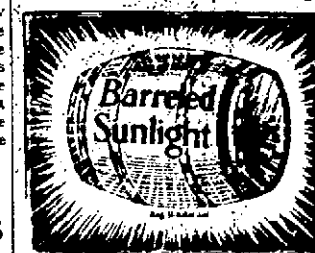

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—While republicans at their presidential nomination held the political spotlight today, Governor Cox, the democratic candidate, and his advisers continued work toward completing their organization. Columbus today was almost solidly democratic with all republicans able to make the trip to Marion at the convenience of the train.

Governor Cox and his aides hoped to announce soon the special campaign committee of 15. They awaited word today from state chairmen to whom names of suggested appointees had been telegraphed for approval.

REICHSTAG CALLED TO MEET MONDAY

LONDON, July 21.—The German reichstag has been summoned to meet Monday, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin. Its business will include a discussion on the date for holding the presidential elections. Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons, the dispatch adds, are expected to make statements on the Spa conference at either Monday or Tuesday's session of the reichstag. A Koenigsberg message to the Exchange Telegraph Co. says plans are proceeding for the formation of a red army in East Prussia.

IDEAL FOR THE HOME

There are rooms where white walls and woodwork are peculiarly fitting, such as the kitchen, nursery and bathroom. Barred Sunlight makes rooms bright and cheerful. The gleamy tile-like finish of this oil paint can be washed and won't need repainting for years. Contains no lead, so is absolutely sanitary. Is cheaper than enamel and can be applied easier by the householder.

WASHDAY—yet time for play

A new way of washing clothes! Gets them on the line snowy white at 9 a. m.

Try the new Rinso way on your next wash. When you see how easy it is you will never go back to the old hard way of rubbing and boiling.

OFF for a lark—on washday! Your washing all finished—ages ago—snowy white, sprinkled and ready for ironing! Your home in perfect order! Plenty of time for a romp with the children! And still time left to prepare dinner—fresh and untired at the end of the day—on washday!

"What, on washday?" you question. You see yourself rubbing away for hours at the washboard—lifting heavy garments from the steaming boiler! Kitchen all damp with the steam—disordered, cluttered up. Your face flushed, worried. Even if you have a laundress to help you, there is still so much work to do that at the end of the day you have that "limp as a rag" feeling, that leaves its traces for the rest of the week!

Yet the new way of washing—based on a very simple new idea—makes washing so easy that it can be all done the first thing in the morning.

Soak your clothes clean—instead of rubbing the dirt out!

When you rub your clothes clean over the washboard—the old way—you are simply forcing the dirt out of your clothes by friction. A hard, tiresome method—it wears you out completely.

The new way is simply to soak your clothes overnight (or for three hours) with Rinso, a wonderful new product made by the makers of Lux.

The pure Rinso suds soften the dirt, loosen it, free it from the fabric. All you have to do is just rinse the clothes and the dirt floats right out. Only cuff edges, hems, and badly soiled places need a light rubbing between your hands.

You do not even have to boil the clothes unless you wish to sterilize them occasionally—once a month or so.

Makes your clothes last longer

This new way of washing is easier on your clothes.

Rubbing over the hard metal washboard wears them out more than using them does. The new Rinso way saves your clothes from all this cruel rubbing. It saves them from the harsh washing powders, strong laundry soaps and sodas that "eat" the fabric.

In Rinso there are absolutely no harsh cleansing agents. There is nothing to injure colors. It is so mild your clothes are as safe in the Rinso suds as they are in water.

A few rinsings—a light rubbing of bad spots between the hands—and your clothes are ready for the line—snowy white—at 9 o'clock in the morning!

Pick out the things that used to make washday the hardest—the men's shirts, the children's rompers, your aprons, the hand towels that get so terribly grimy. Just soak them overnight in the pure Rinso suds, and in the morning you can actually just rinse the dirt out.

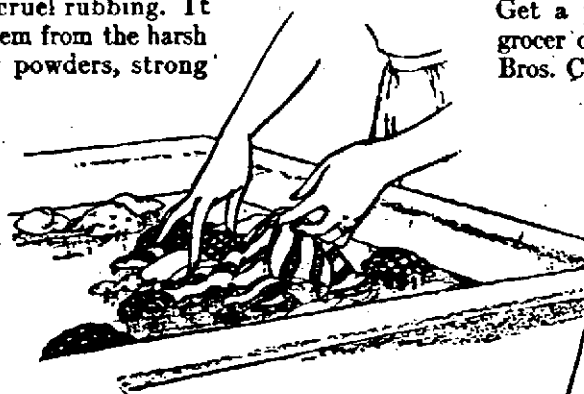

Once you wash the new way you will never want to see a washboard or boiler again! It's so amazingly easy—just soak and rinse!

See for yourself what a difference it makes to take the old-fashioned washday out of the week. One package of Rinso is all you need for the new way of washing.

Get a package today from your grocer or department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

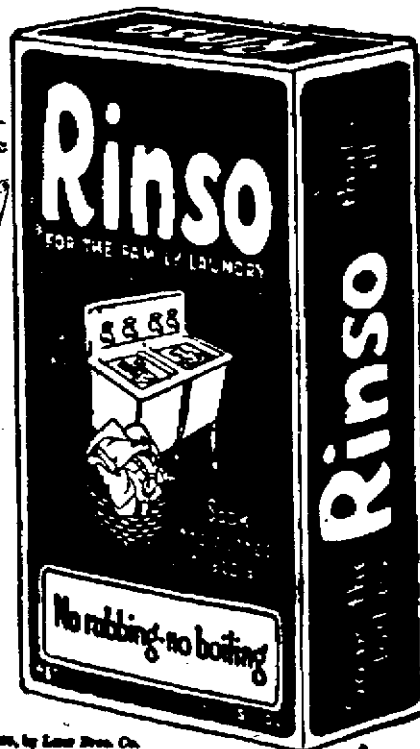

You can see by your hands how safe the Rinso way of washing clothes is. It doesn'tadden them—it doesn't get them rough or wrinkled.

Saved from hard rubbing and boiling the children's clothes last twice as long. It's really wonderful how the Rinso way of washing lengthens the life of the fabric.

Maine Prospers as Thirsty "Tourists"

Flock to House on the Imaginary Line

THIS IS THE "LINE HOUSE" WHERE THIRSTY "TOURISTS" GATHER NIGHTLY. THEY ENTER "DRY," CROSS OVER TO THE "WET" SIDE AND COME OUT THE "DRY" SIDE TANKED.

BY LORRY A. JACOBS
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

JACKMAN, Me., July 21.—Booze is flowing through Maine like water through a fire hose.

And, of course, it's Canada's fault because Canada grew so near to Maine. Maine is celebrating its one hundredth birthday this year and the celebration seems likely to continue for a long time unless the hooch supply in Canada gives out.

Maine prospers. Tourists are thick as ants. They're eating the food grown on the farms and washing it down with hooch supplied by the natives. What could be more nearly perfect?

Jackman's First Stop on Dry Side

I sat on the veranda of Jackman's good hotel, "The Moose River House." Jackman is on the main automobile road to Canada and the main line of the Canadian Pacific, being the first station this side of Hootchland. It was Saturday night, and the hotel was jammed to the guards. Down the street Jackman was enjoying itself at the weekly dance. All was quiet and lovely as the sun slowly sank behind the majestic pine trees of the Maine woods.

"This is a quiet place," said I.

"Him," said the hotel clerk, "it ain't begun yet." He will never say any thing truer.

For, the sun down, a steady stream of automobiles began to appear. One after another the headlights flashed on and on and on they came, one whirling after another. From them came no noise but the whirling of the motors.

"Must be a meeting some place," I observed.

"Feh," said the clerk. Meeting at the Line House. The Modern and Fraternal Order of Hootchseekers meets there every night."

Keep Looking Young!
Nobody wants to grow old looking any faster than they can help; some look old at forty while others don't begin to show their age at seventy. Everybody knows that to keep young looking you have first got to be blessed with good health, and second to do as little worrying as possible. Most of the ills that the flesh is heir to are caused by a disordered stomach, liver or kidneys. These can be regulated and kept in good condition by taking SEVEN BARKS, nature's great remedy of roots and herbs.

Digestive troubles also spoil beauty, rob you of sleep, make dark rings around the eyes and ruin the complexion. Let SEVEN BARKS digest your food and tone up your stomach, then you may eat what you like; bright eyes will soon return, and you will feel fit for your daily duties.

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. If you keep these organs cleansed and in proper working order, old age can be deferred and life prolonged beyond the average age. No better remedy can be found than SEVEN BARKS to keep the stomach, liver and kidneys in good order, thus assuring you good health.

Old-fashioned nature's remedies are the best, so don't fail to keep a bottle of SEVEN BARKS on hand. Get it at your druggist's. Price, 50 cents.—Adv.

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

10,000 MARKS CAN BE
CONTROLLED FOR $50.00

100,000 MARKS CAN BE
CONTROLLED FOR $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-tenth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the market lead on option advance to only one-half normal value the return on $50.00 would be over 100%.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange advances rapidly. Send for explanatory circular.

"And what's the Line house?" I queried.

"The first watering place of the border," said he. "Half of it is built on the United States side. That side's as dry as a desert. The other half is on the Canadian side and that side's as wet as the ocean."

541 Cars Pass on Way to Line House

The procession kept up. One would have thought that someone had conceived the idea of having all the cars in the world meet at the Line house. There was every imaginable make, size and variety. Counting as best I could I totalled 541 cars in three hours. In the meantime, the dance over, all the male residents of Jackman apparently disappeared, following much whispering, much talking of Canadian-French and much cranking of autos.

And then about midnight the cars began to whizz past, going the other direction. Only now came from them the sounds of much merriment, much laughter and most of them were driven recklessly and with cutouts scorching.

"Well," said I, "I guess I'll go to bed."

"What for?" asked the clerk. "You can't sleep. No one can here Saturday nights. The cars make too much noise."

"SUMMER SPORT" IN MAINE

It would take nothing short of an army to stop the flow of liquor from Canada across the Maine border. The army that is now attempting to stop it consists of one United States customs official, an immigration official, three or four helpers and a sheriff and deputy sheriff.

It is estimated that places in Canada on the Maine border are selling $250,000 worth of liquor a month and that this in turn is sold in Maine and New England for nearly a million dollars. One shipment alone recently that met with an ill fate consisted of $14,000 worth of liquid joy. The cost a case in Canada is $32. In New England it is from $84 to $100. And rum runners are cheerfully paying fines of $1000 without blinking an eye.

PLEADS FOR SUN

Bud Julius Jonas Will Never See it Again

CHICAGO, July 22.—Out of the unpenetrable darkness of his room in Montrose avenue hospital yesterday Julius Jonas asked almost in a whisper:

"Is the sun shining outside?"

He stirred restlessly until he found his wife's hand.

"Yes, it's shining," answered Mrs. Jonas.

The man who last Sunday morning missed by a hair's breadth being shot to death by Pauline Neglichte, who after firing a bullet into his temple, killed herself, sighed gratefully.

"I'm glad of that," he said, then added, "I wish I could see it."

"You poor baby," he said, "and that was all just then."

For Julius Jonas will be blind for life. The last ray of hope that his sight might be saved was snuffed out when Dr. Herman A. Moje operated in a last attempt to repair the optic nerve.

"He will never see again," said Dr. Moje.

WATERWAY FROM GREAT LAKES TO OCEAN

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—Demanding development of the upper St. Lawrence river to provide an open waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, 1100 delegates, representing every section of the country, assembled here today for the opening session of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tidewater congress.

During the congress, which will continue through Saturday, speakers from 10 states will urge development of a tidewater route as a means of relieving congestion at eastern ports and developing the middle west.

The objection of the congress, as outlined by officials of the Detroit board of commerce, who called the meeting, is to bring before the people and ultimately before congress, the advantages they believe would result through providing a deep waterway from the sea to the Great Lakes. Supporters of the movement declare that the Middle West would be benefited before each Great Lakes city would become an ocean port, and that the commercial and industrial life of the east would be enhanced by cheaper transportation of goods.

tion of the Jones' bill's provisions to our imports of 1919 and 1920, certainly may properly be termed a "protective tariff bill."

transportation to its markets from the interior.

The annual meeting of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tide water association with a membership in 14 central and western states, will be held Saturday.

Charles S. Campbell, president of the Detroit board of commerce, delivered the welcoming address this morning.

POPE NAMES AUG. 29

AS K. OF C. DAY

NEW YORK, July 22.—Pope Benedict XV has named Aug. 29 as Knights of Columbus day at the Vatican, according to a message received here yesterday from Archbishop John Bonzano, apostolic delegate to the United States. On that date he will receive the K. of C. pilgrimage, which is to sail from New York for Rome, Aug. 7.

"On the same day," the message says, "the pope will celebrate mass for the pilgrims in the chapel of Lourdes, Vatican Gardens."

FELL FROM ROOF

George Norris and Roger Billings, who were shingling the latter's home in Tewksbury yesterday, fell from the roof, when their staging broke and narrowly escaped serious injuries. Mr. Norris sustained a fractured rib, while Mr. Billings received bruises to his shoulder and lacerations to his head. The cause of the accident was the twisting of a bracket of the staging which gave way. Both men were treated at their respective homes.

PARIS, July 22.—William K. Vanderbilt is in a very critical condition. He is reported to be slowly declining, suffering from heart trouble, with complications.

Mr. Vanderbilt, who is an ardent enthusiast and sportsman, became suddenly ill while attending the races at Auteuil on April 15. His condition next day was pronounced as much better. Since that time there have been rumors that he was seriously ill, but they were subsequently denied.

AUTOMOBILISTS INJURED

When the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a telegraph pole and snapped it off at its base in Gorham street near the Edison cemetery late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Payson T. Lowell and her daughter, of 17 Cushing street, Newton Highlands, received severe cuts about the face from flying pieces of glass. Both were treated at St. John's hospital. The accident occurred when Mrs. Lowell lost control of the steering wheel. The auto was badly damaged.

Besides raising seven children of her own, Mrs. Katherine Glover, colored woman of Springfield, Ill., has taken 21 others to raise and care for, 15 of them negroes, five whites and one Mexican. Mrs. Glover has to work for her living, but she says she does love babies.

HOW THE SHIP ACT RUNS UP DUTIES

BY HARRY B. HUNT, N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The extent to which the merchant marine act of 1920 becomes a high tariff legislation may best be visualized by applying its provisions to American imports for the past two years and comparing the results following the passage of the Aldrich tariff act in 1909.

Customs duties in 1909 amounted to $200,711,031. In the year following the Aldrich revision they amounted to $233,553,445, an increase of slightly less than $33,000,000.

A Comparison But if the tariff provisions of the merchant marine act of 1920 had been applied to the imports brought to this country in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, they would have added more than five times the amount of the increase resulting from the Aldrich tariff act, and would virtually have doubled our customs duties for that year.

If applied to imports for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, the increase would have been more than eight times the increase following the Aldrich bill, and would have added more than the total of all our customs duties in any year prior to 1909.

The effect of the abrogation of commercial treaties, as provided by the new merchant marine act, is to put into effect sub-section J, section 4 of the Underwood tariff act of 1913, providing an additional 10 per cent ad valorem duty on all imports brought to this country in vessels of foreign registry.

Imports in Foreign Ships

Imports into the United States for the fiscal year 1919 amounted in value to $3,095,571,601. Of this amount $175,654,531 came in by rail or land transportation. American vessels carried $575,609,857 worth. The remainder, amounting in value to $1,744,357,213, was carried in vessels of foreign registry. Had a 10 per cent ad valorem duty been applied, the addition to customs receipts would have been $174,435,721.

How near this approaches a 100 per cent increase is shown by the fact that the total customs receipts collected for the year 1919 was $185,425,624.

Any bill—whether entitled "Tariff bill" or "Merchant Marine act"—which would increase customs receipts by even 25 per cent, instead of the 10 to 100 per cent indicated by the applica-

SIXTH COUNCILLOR
DISTRICT FIGHT

Another warm fight in the sixth councillor district, similar to that staged last year, is scheduled for this fall, judging from the lineup of candidates. Usually the contest is waged between candidates living in opposite ends of the district, but this year there will be a fight right here in Lowell with Fred O. Lewis, former representative, and Smith J. Adams, prominent in local political circles under the old form of charter, contesting for the office. Mr. Lewis was an unsuccessful candidate last year against James G. Harris of Medford, although he put up an exceptionally strong fight. Nomination papers are in circulation in behalf of each of the candidates.

From the other end of the district the aspirants to date are former Senator Smith of Lincoln and Senator Edward B. Kimes of Reading. Mr. Harris, the present incumbent, is to be a candidate for secretary of the commonwealth. It is understood.

Party Above Individual

Completed to permit women to vote this fall in every state.

Reviewing and commending briefs many other planks of the party platform, the candidate declared for collective bargaining for farmers, repression of the disloyal, "generous federal co-operation" in rehabilitating the railroads, intelligent definition of the currency, enlargement of government aid in reclamation, a genuine expression of gratitude to veterans of the world war and maintenance of an ample navy and "a small army but the best in the world."

In his promise of a "party government," Senator Harding reiterated his belief that the vice president should have a part in the affairs of the chief executive's official family and declared there also should be "a cordial understanding and co-ordinated activities" between the executive and congress.

"No man," he said, "is big enough to run this great republic. Our first commitment is the restoration of representative popular government, under the constitution, through the agency of the republican party."

Promising restoration of peace as soon as a republican congress should send a peace declaration to a republican president for his signature, the candidate assailed the league covenant as brought home by President Wilson but declared the war sacrifices would be "in vain if we cannot acclaim a new order, with added security to civilization and peace maintained."

"We republicans of the senate," he continued, "when we saw the structure of a world supergovernment taking visionary form, joined in a becoming warning of our devotion to this republic. The republicans of the senate halted the barrier of independent American eminence and influence."

"We do not mean to hold aloof. We do not mean to shun a single responsibility of this republic. We were resolved then, even as we are today, and will be tomorrow, to preserve this free and independent republic. Let those now responsible, or seeking responsibility, propose the surrender, whether with interpretations, apologies, or reluctant reservations,—from which our rights are to be omitted. We welcome the referendum to the American people on the preservation of America."

"With a senate advising as the constitution contemplates, I would hope fully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that, understanding which makes us a willing participant in the conservation of nations to a new leadership, to commit the moral forces of the world."

America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and self-reliant but offering friendship to all the world."

Declaring railway employees ought to be the best paid in the world, the candidate emphasized the responsibility of such service and added:

"The government might well stamp railway employment with the sanctity of public service and guarantee to the railway employees that justice which voices the American conception of righteousness on the one hand and assures continuity of service on the other."

In his reference to prohibition and law enforcement he said:

"People ever will differ about the wisdom of the enactment of a law—there is divided opinion regarding the eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted to make it operative—but there can be no difference of opinion about honest law enforcement. Modification or repeal is the right of a free people whenever the deliberate and intelligent public sentiment commands but perversion and evasion mark the paths to the failure of government itself."

Greater Production

"It must be understood that to let alone makes for accomplishment and advancement, and righteous possession is the reward of toil, and its incentive. There is no progress except in the stimulus of competition. When competition—natural, fair, impelling competition—is suppressed, whether by law, compact or conspiracy, we halt the march of progress, silence the voice of aspiration, and paralyze the will for achievement. These are but common sense truths of human development."

"The chief trouble today is that the world war wrought the destruction of healthful competition, left our storehouses empty, and there is a minimum production when our need is maximum. Maximum, not minimum, is the call of America. It isn't a new story because war never fails to leave depleted storehouses and always impairs the efficiency of production. War also establishes its higher standards for wages, and they abide. I wish the higher wage to abide, on one explicit condition—that the wage-earner will give full return for the wage received. It is the best assurance we can have for a reduced cost of living."

"Mark you, I am ready to acclaim the highest standard of pay, but I would be blind to the responsibilities that mark this fateful hour if I did not caution the wage-earners of America that mounting wages and decreased production can lead only to industrial and economic ruin."

"I want, somehow, to appeal to the sons and daughters of the republic, to every producer, to join hand and brain in production, more production, honest production, patriotic production, because patriotic production is no less a defense of our best civilization than that of armed force. Profiteering is a crime of commission, underproduction is a crime of omission. We must work our most and best, else the destructive reaction will come. We must stabilize and strive for normalcy, else the inevitable reaction will bring its train of sufferings, disappointments and reversals. We want to forestall such reaction, we want to Service in the War."

"Though not in any partisan sense I must speak of the services of the men and women who rallied to the colors of the republic in the world war. America realizes and appreciates the services rendered, the sacrifices made and the sufferings endured. There shall be no distinction between those who knew the perils and glories of the battle front or the dangers of the sea, and those who were compelled to serve behind the lines, or those who constituted the great reserve of a grand army which awaited the call in camps at home."

"All were brave, all were sacrificing, all were sharers of those ideals which sent our boys thrice-armed to war. Worthy sons and daughters, these, fit successors to those who christened our banners in the immortal beginning, worthy sons of those who saved the union and nationality when Civil war wiped the ambiguity from the constitution, ready sons of those who drew the sword for humanity's sake the first time in the world, in 1898."

"The four million defenders on land and sea were worthy of the best traditions of a people never war-like in peace and never pacifist in war. They commanded our pride, they have our gratitude, which must have genuine expression. It is not only a duty, it is a privilege to see that the sacrifices made shall be repaid, and that those still suffering from casualties and disabilities shall be abundantly aided and restored to the highest capabilities of citizenship and its enjoyment."

"The womanhood of America, always its glory, its inspiration and the potent, uplifting force in its social and spiritual development, is about to be enfranchised. Insofar as congress can go, the fact is already accomplished. By party edict, by my recorded vote by personal conviction I am committed to this measure of justice. It is my earnest hope, my sincere desire that the one needed state vote be quickly recorded in the affirmation of the right of equal suffrage and that the vote of every citizen shall be cast and counted in the approaching election."

"Let us not share the apprehension of many men and women as to the danger of this momentous extension of the franchise. Women have never been without influence in our political life. Enfranchisement will bring to

It will bring the women educated in our schools, trained in our customs and habits of thought, and sharers of our problems. Lowell Man Had Rheumatism Ten Years—Gone Now

Mr. Thomas Leorum of Lakeview ave., Lowell, Mass., suffered for ten long years before he found Goldline No. 2 and relief from the rheumatism which he thought would torture him as long as he lived. He says: "I can't describe the suffering I had to endure because of my rheumatism. At night I could not turn over in bed without being in the worst agony. I had to be turned over in bed by blankets. I tried many kinds of medicine but couldn't get any relief. Then I heard of Goldline No. 2, the rheumatic remedy, and got some. At once I felt that it was helping me and now I am a well man, all because of Goldline No. 2. It is wonderful!"

Mr. Charles C. Thompson of 213 Chelmsford st., Lowell, Mass., says: "For the past year I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble and couldn't seem to get any relief. I have tried many kinds of medicine but the organs were inflamed and I was not able to pass water. I'd have to get up at night three or four times. I took Goldline No. 2 and one week after starting that treatment I felt the greatest change. That medicine surely has helped me more than anything I have ever taken. I recommend Goldline No. 2 to anyone who is suffering with kidney and bladder trouble or any uric acid condition."

Goldline is put up in tablet form for convenience in carrying to work and on trips. It is also put up in liquid form, with the same ingredients, for use in the home. Goldline Morning Smile Laxatives, used with the No. 1 and No. 2 formulas, will clean out the system and enable you to get quicker and better results.

Goldline is sold in your city by A. W. Bous, (both stores), Lawrence, Mass.; Sherburne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Chassee, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. P. Korman, Frank E. McNabb, Wm. N. Noonan, R. F. Webster, Frye & Crawford Co. It is also sold by Roland G. Wright in Andover, John S. Woodward in Chelmsford, Const. Co. in Littleton, Edward A. Woodside in Wilmington, and dealers in Ayer, Westford, Dracut, Tewksbury and other towns. If your dealer does not carry Goldline in stock, have him secure it through Lawrence Drug Co.

Fishermen's Co-operative Association Changes
Fishing Industry From Gamble to Fair Show

ONE OF THE CO-OPERATIVE FLEET DORIES BRING IN A CATCH

BY LEE J. SMITH
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

SEATTLE, Wash., July 21.—A new democracy of the sea has been established among the fishermen of the North Pacific and, while not yet a year old, their co-operative organization has changed the fishing industry from a gamble and scramble in the open market, economically wasteful, to a stabilized pursuit.

The Pacific Sea Products associated is incorporated with a capital stock of $500,000. About 900 fishermen are members. The Fishing Vessel Owners' association and the Fishermen's union, bitterly opposed at all times past, are united in the movement. Any Hampshire and were making their way Lowellward when they met with the mishap which finally led to their arrest.

Reckless Driving

Motorcycle Officer Hamilton figure in the arrest and conviction of two motorists who were found guilty of reckless driving on the Pawtucket boulevard. Horaisdas Lacourse was fined $20 for endangering the lives and safety of the public last Sunday afternoon. The arresting officer testified that the defendant drove his machine at the rate of 34 to 40 miles an hour on Varnum avenue; dangerously passing many other machines on the road. There were eleven occupants in the touring car at the time.

George B. White, charged with endangering the lives and safety of the public by speeding his auto on the Pawtucket boulevard on the 15th of July pleaded not guilty. White was found guilty and ordered to pay the usual fine of $20. Officer Hamilton said he had to hit up 55 miles an hour for a distance of about 500 yards to catch up with White's machine.

fisherman can join by buying $200 worth of stock. A vessel owner invests $500 for each dory. A six-dory boat is typical in the halibut fleet.

In the first six months the association did a $210,000 business. It is now erecting a cold storage plant at Port Graham, Alaska, equipped to freeze 1,500,000 pounds of the catch from northern waters to the market.

The housewife does not pay more for her fish through the operations of the association, but the fishermen get more.

This is explained by the fact that under the old system, the first vessels in with a heavy catch flooded the market and the others sold their fish in haste for anything they could get to speculators who could utilize cold storage.

Now a surplus of fish is frozen in the port commission's cold storage plant for the association and sold as the market calls for it.

Profits on the wholesale marketing conducted by the association will be divided among the stockholders, who invest not only their brawn and skill in the hard task of fishing, but also their savings.

A year ago the fishermen were receiving 1½ cents a pound for halibut on the Seattle docks. It was a game of chance for them, and the wholesale buyers ran the game. Now the price is kept at about 1½ cents.

LAUNDRYMAN WHO PUNISHED
BOY IS ROUGHLY HANDLED
BY CROWD

An employee of the Elm Chin laundry on East Merrimack street was severely beaten by a crowd yesterday when found punishing a boy who had vexed him in some way. The laundryman chased the boy up East Merrimack street into Fayette where he proceeded to punish him. Friends of the boy interfered in his behalf and handled the laundryman pretty roughly. Only for the efforts of an employee of a nearby store, the laundryman would have been severely injured.

Not Much in the Field To Put Against Dempsey—Must Take on Easy Marks

LOOKS GOOD AS EVER

A year's absence from the boxing ring doesn't seem to have changed the appearance of Jack Dempsey. As a rule long layoffs don't do a boxer any good but the champion is back with the declaration that he is not afraid of any man living, and he seems to have intimidated the best Europe has produced.

BY DEAN SNYDER

Jack Dempsey is coming out of his corner again after a year's absence.

And there isn't much in the field to put against him except the same gang of heavies who used to be picking him before he took over the title.

For one solid year he returned to the battle of typewriters carried on between Dempsey and Carpenter.

They scrapped both machines for junk when the Frenchman went back to Paris.

Dempsey, with his moving picture contract fulfilled and his battle of the Brennan established a name of being a K. O. Irish scrapper by piling up a total of 15 consecutive knockouts. He has another string of 10.

He is a hard hitter. Such young hopes as Bob Roper, Gene Tunney, Martin Burke and Bob Martin have wisely steered away from the Brennan fist.

HE GETS FIRST CRACK

With a Dempsey-Carpenter match made impossible for the present Bill Brennan will be the first man to draw on the champion since he won the title a year ago. The match is to be held within two months and the highest bidder will stage the entertainment.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agent

THE STRAND

One of the three headlines at the Strand theatre, the last half of the present week concerns the man who is silent as a brick.

"Twins of Suffering Creek," a Fox picture, with William Russell as the star, Sessie Hayakawa, the noted Japanese actress, will also be on the bill.

"The Devil's Claim," a drama of Hindu superstition and sorcery—a story within a story. This picture in the usual class is a headliner.

And there will be funny Larry Simon in "The Fly Cop," one of the greatest of laugh making pictures. One must see it to appreciate it.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Robert Warwick has the role of a 20th century knight of adventure in "The Four Riders," the picture in which he is being featured at the Merrimack Square theatre on the current program.

The story provides a good mixture of romance and adventure, punctuated with thrills and dramatic suspense.

Capt. Gordon, the central figure of the plot, is a modern St. Gahad who does not hesitate to don boxing gloves and do battle in the prize ring when occasion demands.

The other feature of the week-end is the Bill Durke in "Away Goes Prudence." The International News, a comedy, and the Burton Holmes travel pictures round out the bill.

HARDING'S FATHER

STRONG FOR SUFFRAGE

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Headquarters of the national woman's party here received word from the Marion headquarters today that Dr. G. T. Harding, father of the republican nominee, has promised to go to Tennessee, if necessary, to bring about adoption of the suffrage amendment by that state.

Dr. Harding was said to have telephoned this promise to the Marion headquarters today, at the same time expressing great interest in the suffrage cause.

FOR A BUFFER

STATE IN SIBERIA

HONOLULU, July 22.—Negotiations have been completed between Japan and Asiatic Russia regarding the creation of a buffer state in Siberia, a government memorandum issued in Tokyo today announced, according to Tokio cables to Nippon Jiji.

Asiatic Russia has agreed to preserve peace, to maintain friendly relations with Japan and abolish communism, while Japan has agreed to withdraw her troops from the buffer territory and the European Bolshevik armies are to be barred from the territory, the memorandum was quoted.

MILITARY AID FOR POLAND

French and British Missions Leave for Warsaw to Arrange for Prompt Help

Infantry, Tanks, Air Forces and Artillery Will be Offered

PARIS, July 22.—The allies have decided to take measures preparatory to giving military aid to Poland, if that should prove necessary. It was learned here today.

A French mission headed by Jules J. Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, who is at home on leave, General Weygand, right hand man of Marshal Foch and M. Vignoni, a close collaborator with Premier Millerand, will leave tonight for Warsaw to arrange for prompt succor to the Poles.

On the same train and with the same object there will be a British mission headed by Lord Abernethy, British ambassador at Berlin, General Macdonald and Sir Maurice Hankey.

These missions, it is learned, leave with full authority to say to the Poles that whatever aid is needed, whether military or financial or in the nature of supplies will be forthcoming if the Bolsheviks persist in a design to march in distinctively Polish territory.

It is stated unofficially, but on high authority, that this means help for Poland in the form of troops, if they are required.

Already a large number of allied officers and subalterns are with the Polish army, which it is declared, will be increased according to circumstances with as many divisions of infantry, tank detachments, air forces and artillery as may be transported in due time.

STRIKES CLOSE COAL MINES IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, July 22.—Strikes of day laborers in the southern Illinois coal fields today had closed more than a score of mines in the important Franklin county field. Reports from the district around Belleville said that approximately 12,000 men were idle and in the Harrisburg district, 7000.

The day laborers, including drivers, timber men and pumpmen, average $5.50 per day and demand 12 per day increase.

INJURED HIS HEAD

James Carroll, an employee of Carroll Bros., plumbers, received an injury to his head while at work at 279 Dutton street shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. The ambulance removed him to St. John's hospital.

Sergt. Palmer Touches Match to Outlaw Whiskey to Settle Argument

Blue Flame Appears and Officer Declares That Stuff is 100 Proof

"That's 100 proof, all right," said Sergt. Palmer in the police station hallway this morning as he watched a small blue flame consume a quantity of liquid on the floor.

To settle an argument over the strength of a gallon of moonshine taken from three autoists by Constable Harry Holt of Tyngsboro last night, Sergt. Palmer had taken a small quantity of the liquor, diluted it with water, spilled it on the floor and set it afire. "When there's enough alcohol in it to produce a flame such as that then it surely has a little kick to it," concluded the sergeant.

MORE BREWERY HORSES SOLD AT AUCTION

Good prices were bid today for horses of the Harvard company, successors to the Harvard Brewing company, at an auction sale at the stables of Charles H. Hanson & Co. in Rock street. Nine heavy matched pairs were included in the sale. They were all animals of the highest quality and had been used by the Harvard company in carrying on its business in Boston. The prices paid for the horses varied between $300 and $500 a pair. Most of the horses were sold to out-of-town buyers.

A number of caravans and sleds were sold at satisfactory prices. The sets of harness owned by the Harvard company were also disposed of, on good terms.

The prices paid for the horses and equipment were about the same as those brought by a similar lot of material belonging to the company that was disposed of by auction by the Hanson company about two weeks ago.

A number of other horses were included in the sale. One of these was the bay horse "Harry" belonging to the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, whose usefulness to his owners had been ended by the advent of the motor truck. A number of street railwaymen were present at the sale to see "Harry" placed on the block. Continued to Page 4

REFERENDUM IS PROBABLE

Officials Refuse to Comment on Report of Division of Opinion

Tentative Acceptances in Case Vote of all Union Men is Ordered

CHICAGO, July 22.—A decision tonight on whether the 13 railroad unions will accept the $600,000,000 wage award was promised today by T. E. Sheppard when the brotherhood chiefs resumed their conference.

Union officials refused to comment on the reports that they were divided, seven favoring acceptance, seven a referendum with recommendation of acceptance, two a referendum without recommendation, one flat rejection of the award and one undecided. Privately they said a referendum seemed the only possible course.

If a vote by all union members is ordered the award will be tentatively accepted, so that the men will get the increased pay for this month and the back pay from May 1, as provided by the retroactive feature of the railway labor board's decision. A referendum will take at least 30 days.

NO DECISION AFTER ALL-NIGHT SESSION

CHICAGO, July 22.—Heads of the great railroad brotherhoods this morning were divided in opinion on the course of action which should be pursued as to acceptance or rejection of the $600,000,000 wage increase granted by the railway labor board.

At the close of an all-night session, at which no agreement was reached on a plan for concerted action, six of the brotherhoods, in addition to the masters, makes and pilots of America, had expressed their decision as favorable to acceptance of the award in its entirety; seven favored referring the question to the unions with recommendation.

MILL COAL SUPPLY.

Several of the Local Mills Are Burning Oil

Although local mill officials report that the soft coal situation in this city is sub-normal no fear is being entertained for a greater shortage. As far as could be learned all the mills have a supply on hand that will keep them going for some time to come.

One of the local mill agents stated this noon that a number of the mills have shifted over to oil burning and this in a great measure brings relief to other mills that use nothing but coal. These mills, he said, are not depending entirely on oil for fuel, for the consumption of the liquid is great enough to help along conditions. There is no indication in Lowell at present that manufacturing plants will be forced to shut down because of lack of coal.

TEDDY JUNIOR GREETES HARDING

MARION, Ohio, July 22.—While the Columbus Republican Glee club was serenading Senator Harding during the notification ceremonies this afternoon, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., climbed up over the porch rail and shook hands with Senator Harding. The crowd cheered and the nominee led Col. Roosevelt to the front steps and presented him to the club as "the son of a great American, for whom you have sung often in the past." In a short talk the colonel congratulated the club and asked it to help "roll it up bigger than ever before."

BOULEVARD DANCE HALL

Mayor Will Take no Part in Controversy—Public Hearing Tuesday

Mayor Perry D. Thompson will maintain a policy of absolute neutrality as far as his official actions are concerned relative to the controversy now being waged as to whether there shall be erected a dance hall on the Pawtucket boulevard, near the municipal bath house, he said this forenoon, following a conference with Rev. Arthur G. Lyon, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church.

Rev. Mr. Lyon came to the mayor to present him a series of petitions signed by residents of Pawtucketville protesting against the erection of the proposed hall. According to the mayor, 38 out of every 100 people

NEW PASSENGER RATES

Will Go Up Cent a Mile if Plan of Executives is Accepted

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Travel on railway passenger trains will cost from one-half to one cent a mile more if the interstate commerce commission adopts the suggestion of the association of railway executives for meeting the $500,000,000 added operation expenses by reason of increased wages granted to employees of the roads by the labor board. A schedule of increased rates, both freight and passenger, has been worked out by the executives in conference here during the last two days and this was expected to be ready for submission to the commission.

According to A. P. Thom, counsel for the railway association in addition to increased passenger fares, including commutation and multiple tickets and Pullman charges, the carriers will ask that milk and express transportation bear a proportion of the increased labor expenses; also an increase of about 8 per cent in freight charges will be asked in addition to the 23 per cent sought in order to meet the 6 per cent. earning guarantee provided in the transportation act passed by the last congress.

As tentatively agreed upon by the carriers, the increase on ordinary passenger travel would be half a cent a mile in the east and from three-quarters of a cent to a cent in the west. The chief difficulty faced, it was said, is in making the proposed schedules conform to various state laws.

GRAVE ISSUES ARE INVOLVED

Complex Domestic and Economic Problems Face Nation, Says Lodge

Declares United Party Has Entire Confidence in Nominee's Ability

MARION, O., July 22.—Declaring that no national campaign for the presidency has ever involved graver issues than this one, Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts, today delivered the official notification speech to Senator Warren H. Harding, republican nominee.

Senator Lodge spoke in part, as follows: "We are assembled here as a committee representing the states, territories and possessions of the United States to make to you formal announcement of your nomination for the office of president of the republic on June 12th last, at Chicago, by the republican national convention. This duty is to us as pleasing as it is honorable, but we are also deeply conscious of its far-reaching importance. We fully appreciate that what you say to us today will not only

PRES. WOOD DECLINES TO MEET MAYOR WHITE

BOSTON, July 22.—President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. today declined to meet Mayor White or the city council of Lawrence to discuss the reasons for closing the company's mills there and the possibility of an early re-opening. The company head in a letter to the mayor, said he had already written him fully on the subject, and added:

"I do not readily see how an interview with the council of the city of Lawrence or with you can be of any assistance in controlling the economic conditions which compelled the shutdown, or in any other respect serve a useful purpose."

"I am confirmed in this conclusion by several utterances of yours which have appeared in the newspapers and which do not seem to me to approach this important problem in a helpful spirit."

WILL NOT SEEK AN INJUNCTION

NEW YORK, July 22.—Although the United Textile Workers of America will conduct an investigation to ascertain the cause for the closing of the American Woolen Co. plants in the New England states, no attempt will be made to obtain an injunction to compel the company to reopen its plants, John Golden, president of the textile workers union, announced here today.

This decision, he said, had been reached at a meeting of the executive board of the union, held today.

CITY FILLED TO OVERFLOWING

Thirty Special Trains Bring Thousands to Attend Day's Festivities

Parades go Through Court of Honor and Pass Harding Home in Review

MARION, Ohio, July 22.—The republican campaign attained full speed ahead today with the formal notification here of Warren G. Harding, the party's nominee for the presidency. The notification ceremonies, which brought to Marion most of the big leaders of the party and many thousands of Harding enthusiasts, included an acceptance speech by Senator Harding interpreting the Chicago platform and declaring the principles on which he expects the campaign to be fought out.

His declarations were expected to strike a key note, giving tone to the arguments of republican workers throughout the nation in the season of political debate ushered in by notification day.

The acceptance speech came at the end of a long program in which high-spirited enthusiasm ruled the day as the visiting delegations marched on the Harding residence in unbroken succession to be received by the candidate and to pay their respects in the coin of tumultuous political emotion.

Noted Begins Early

At 7 o'clock in the morning a noisy aggregation of Marion citizens that looked like half the town, led off the demonstration that set a mark for the out-of-town folk to shoot at. To their howling acclaim, the senator played the leading part in a flag-raising, pulling the Stars and Stripes to the top of the weather-beaten McKinley flag pole, sent here a few days ago from Canton.

Thirty Special Trains

Delegation after delegation, with bands blaring and colors flying, followed up to the Harding front porch as 30 special trains and thousands of automobiles unloaded their contributions to the notification crowds. Not content with showing themselves to the nominee, they reformed and marched and counter-marched through the city in a riot of noise and color.

Marion was dressed within an inch of its life for its debut in the great

FOUND! ACTRESS WHO LIKES VAMP ROLES

Copyright, 1920, Moffett, Chicago.
NEW YORK, July 22.—Helen Gorton, who won fame in "Oh Lady Lady," and has since created "vamp" roles in many Broadway successes, shatters the popular illusion that she dislikes such roles.
"Emphatically, I do like vamp roles," she says. "Not the popular screen version caparisoned with such 'props' as tight clothes, intriguing eyes, and dangerous. She is neither clever nor subtle. But consider the normal young woman of fairly regular proportions, who dresses after a sane fashion, likes Irving Cobb, goes to baseball games, and may even know how to cook—naturally she has some weaknesses. Perhaps she writes poems she does not mean, or smiles an occasional lip-lid into almost sincere masculine eyes—the understanding, the humorous, the lovable, the changeable, the great contradiction without malice, but with an infinite capacity for entertainment—she is the vamp I like to play and try to play."

NATIONAL GRANGE

Big Convention in Boston Early in November

Reports from all sections of New England show a tremendous interest in the big session of the national grange at Boston, Nov. 10-19 next and present indications are that upwards of 15,000 patrons of husbandry will attend, coming principally from the New England states and New York, although good delegations are coming from states farther afield. Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania will send several carloads, while even the Pacific coast will be well represented. Those in charge of working the seventh degree are inclined to feel that the class of 10,000 candidates planned for will be easily reached, and probably exceeded.

With a seating capacity of 6000 in Mechanics hall, it is planned that the working of the seventh degree on Friday, Nov. 12, will occur at 2:30 in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evening, thereby fully accommodating all the candidates. That special trains will be run to Boston that day from various New England points is expected, following the same plan as carried out at Manchester, N. H., seven years ago. In connection with the session, the special historic significance of this tercentenary year is to be recognized in a way that will have great interest. On Sunday, Nov. 14, the delegates and others are to be taken by automobiles over the route of Paul Revere's ride, through Concord, Lexington, and other points, stopping at Concord and attending church in a body at one of the historic old churches of that town. Monday, the 15th, will be given over wholly to a trip by special train to Plymouth, a fitting historical service at Plymouth Rock and a genuine New England clam bake afterward.

The use of Fanelli hall has been secured for the sessions of the second week, beginning with the memorial service on Sunday night, following the use of Mechanics hall the entire first week. That attendance will run heavy the whole 10 days of the session is certain, while plans are in progress to make the closing day, Friday, the 19th, especially significant, as a fitting close to what will undoubtedly prove the most memorable session the national grange ever held. That this will be one of the largest conventions ever assembled in Boston is certain, and in addition 40 reservations already made in all the hotels of the city, a well-organized housing bureau is at work securing every available room in Greater Boston for the use of the visitors.

Reports on the proposed agricultural exhibit to be run in the lower hall in Mechanics building all the first week, and wholly free to the public, point to a quality show that has never been equalled in New England. With the six states all co-operating, each showing up its own products to special advantage, the show will be in many respects unique and highly interesting. Vermont, for example, is not only to specialize on maple sugar products, but will illustrate the whole process of maple sugar manufacturing, undoubtedly to the delight of all witnesses. Maine promises the greatest potato show ever staged, while all the other states will be equally alert in preparing their exhibits. Certainly the whole 10 days' session will be one big New England event, eagerly anticipated and sure to be long remembered.

BLAZE THREATENS CHELSEA TENEMENTS

BOSTON, July 22.—The two-story factory building at Pearl and Marginal streets, Chelsea, was almost destroyed and a wide area of factory and tenement house section threatened in a two-alarm fire yesterday.

The Victor Leather company was burned out. It occupied the first floor of the building. The fire started by spontaneous combustion in the stock on its floor, it is believed. The second floor was to be occupied today by the Suffolk Furniture company and workmen were cleaning it up in preparation for the coming of this company's stock. The building was owned by A. Freedman of Malden.

The occupants of the three-family frame dwelling adjoining on Pearl st. were driven out, as were the workmen at the plant of the American Cooperage company, across Marginal street. The fire sent forth smoke in heavy volume, and this penetrated to the nearby buildings.

WALL "NO MENACE"
DENVER, July 22.—The fire department decided to demolish a stone wall in the business district with high-power water. The wall was branded "a menace." Two fire engines delivered 2000 gallons a minute at 150 pounds pressure to the square inch. After 240,000 gallons of water had fallen on the 100-foot wall without making it tremble, the department decided it was "no menace," packed up its hose and went home.

Nine women who took the state bar examination at Jefferson City, Mo., were all successful, including Mrs. Mary F. Holliday, a rich St. Louis widow, who took the examination to encourage her son, Hiram, Jr., also a law student. She passed, and he didn't.

SCHOOLGIRL BEAUTIES WIN BEACH HONORS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—These 15-year-old Washington school girls walked away with the municipal bathing beach honors. They are holding the cups given them in the city beach costume and beauty contests. Miss Elizabeth Roach (left) wore the most beautiful bathing costume—the one she is wearing in the photograph—and Miss Edith M. Williams (right) possessed the greatest physical beauty, according to the judges. Seymour Stone, the noted artist, was one of the judges.

SKEPTICS HEAR OF NEW "GAS" SUBSTITUTE

BOSTON, July 22.—With gasoline at 35 cents a gallon, facing also the possibility of a yet further rise in price, Boston users of the precious fluid commented eagerly yesterday on the report that a cheaper and altogether efficient substitute is being manufactured and applied to all sorts of motor cars in the Hawaiian Islands.

The new fuel, known as "motor alcohol," is the invention of J. P. Foster, a chemist employed in one of the large sugar plantations on the island of Maui. Thus far it has been produced from molasses, a by-product of the sugar industry, and containing, along with fermentable material, such valuable materials as potash, nitrogen and phosphoric.

The motor alcohol made according to the new formula is said to be working successfully in marine, stationary, automobile, truck and tractor gasoline engines. In a 34-horse test with a 75-horsepower tractor the motor alcohol consumption was four gallons per hour, as compared with four and a half gallons of gasoline on similar work. With the motor alcohol the speed was higher and the power greater.

It is claimed that the substitute can be used without any readjustment of the carburetor; easier starting and greater freedom from carbon are also among the advantages. Plantations which have been letting their molasses run to waste or burning it only for the recovery of potash are now said to be finding the manufacture of motor alcohol a profitable undertaking. A visitor just returned from the islands states that "the production of the substitute within the next three months will be sufficient should the gasoline shortage develop, to take care of all the islands."

Most of the Boston men seen yesterday were eager to welcome anything likely to bring in a cheaper motor-car fuel, but skeptical as to the likelihood of the Hawaiian situation having any immediate application here. "It has long been known," said one of them, "that alcohol can be produced from molasses, and that the alcohol product can be used as fuel for motor cars. It has been thus utilized for years and is being so utilized in Cuba, at New Orleans and in some of our southern coast towns. Resort was had to it during the war, and to all probability the Germans ran a good many of their airplanes with fuel thus derived."

"But there must be certain facilities for local production before you can begin. The Hawaiians have these facilities in their sugar plantations, but the product cannot be sent abroad, for the cost would be too great. Of course, if the price of gasoline continues to go up, some sort of substitute would be likely to find favor."

Another expert dwelt strongly on the mechanical objection. "Alcohol," he said, "is not adapted to use in the gasoline engine as it is constructed today. Moreover, the introduction of it as motor fuel on any large scale would involve new methods of handling and storing all over the country. The best fuel thus far known for our gasoline engines is gasoline."

"The Hawaiians claim to have enough molasses to produce 2,000,000 gallons of motor alcohol, but it must be remembered that this total is not more than perhaps one-tenth of one per cent. of the total amount of gasoline which was used in this country last year. Of course, no man living can now forecast the future that is in store for motor fuel. The problem is going to be worked out by a process of evolution."

DEAR DORIS—

I am snatching a moment's time to write you just a few lines. When I say snatching time I mean it literally. Really, Doris, I have been so busy lately, trying to get ready to join you next week, that I haven't had time to think.

Yesterday afternoon, after having a manicure at the Chalifoux Beauty shops, I walked through the Blouse Shop. And I saw so many lovely blouses there I must tell you about them.

One blouse of fine voile had a frill down the front. The frill was knife pleated and edged with very fine lace. It was made purposely for your navy blue surplus sweater. And it is only $2.98!

For sport wear, they are showing some smart colored blouses. One of copen has the ever popular white frill down the front and the cuffs are knife pleated. These blouses are only $2.29

Then I noticed a dear little blouse of georgette crepe with fine val lace trimming. This blouse is decidedly different. It has a round neck, buttons in the back, and the sleeves are so quaint—they come just to the elbow and have val lace set in so pretty. This blouse is $7.50.

And there are a hundred and one other smart different styles. One prettier than the other. Don't you want me to bring you down a few? Just drop me a line and I will be glad to.

Lovingly,

MARY.

AUTOMOBILES

The abuse an Overland car will stand is unbelievable. This was clearly shown on Monday when the stock Overland 4—the car that climbed to the highest point on Mount Washington—gracefully climbed the City Hall steps, greeted Mayor Thompson, turned about and calmly, came down. A little stunt like climbing up City Hall steps seemed just play for the Overland. Such stunts are repeated day by day the world over by Overlands.

The Overland is such an easy car to handle that women drivers are most enthusiastic over it. As one woman said while visiting our salesroom the other day: The longer I ride in my Overland, the better I like it.

Texas Troops Turn Out Galveston Officials—General Wolters Is Dictator

GALVESTON, Tex., July 22.—Brigadier-General Jake R. Wolters, (inset) is military dictator in Galveston. The city has been placed completely under military rule by proclamation of Governor W. P. Hobby. Longshoremen have been on strike for more than three months but there has been no disorder. Martial law was proclaimed over the heated protests of the city council, which threatened injunction proceedings.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys
Advices Dr. Carey

Thousands Die Every Year Because They Allow Poisonous Deposits to Accumulate in Kidneys

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh makeshifts, says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough.

For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health.

If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffs under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away.

It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder diseases and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Fred Howard, 127 Central St., can supply you.—Adv.

ings. Hobby in his proclamation said that the police commissioners and Police Judge O'Dell were not co-operating with the militia. The troops were asked for by the Open Shop association. City officials, fighting the military rule, seem to have the support of practically the whole city. Clashes between indignant citizens and the troops are feared. Acting on Hobby's instructions, Wolters' disarmed the entire police force, from chief down, ordered Judge O'Dell from the bench, stripped the mayor, city attorney and four commissioners of all their power and took complete command. City Attorney Anderson and the commissioners in an open statement charge that the military occupation is the result of the Open Shop association's anti-union fight. The open shop question has become the greatest political issue in Texas. Photo shows the national guard camp on the Galveston beach, in Menard park.

fruit is to wring a towel out of water as hot as one can bear it. Wrap the towel around the bottle bringing it up from the bottom to meet on one side. This completely covers the jar and also makes a firm and safe handle to grasp while filling.

There is absolutely no danger of breaking the glass as the damp towel excludes all air.

Menu for Tomorrow

Breakfast—Cantaloupe, creamed dried beef, baking powder biscuits, coffee.

Luncheon—Shrimp imp, toasted crackers, fruit salad, tea.

Dinner—Broiled steak, mashed potatoes, kohlrabi, romaine salad, floating island, coffee.

My Own Recipes

The shrimp dish in the luncheon menu can be served on hot toast or on soda crackers. If toast is used it should be made of bread but about one-fourth of an inch thick, the crusts removed and the bread quickly toasted. There is toast and toast, one made the right way (as I see it) and the other made any old way. The fruit salad is made of any and all fruits carefully diced and served with a cooked salad dressing. If whipped cream is at hand so much the better, but the thing to guard against is a dressing for fruit is too much mustard.

SHRIMP IMP

1 cup shrimps (fresh or canned)
1 cup cooked peas
2 cups milk
1½ tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt (if canned shrimps are used)
½ teaspoon paprika
1 egg
Melt butter, add flour and slowly

add milk. Add salt and paprika. If fresh shrimps are used they are usually very salty and even after freshening will require little salt. When the white sauce is thick, add shrimps and peas. Put over hot water for ten or fifteen minutes until the shrimps and peas are thoroughly heated. Beat egg slightly and stir in just before serving. The egg may be omitted. Serve on toast or crackers.

KOHL-RABI

6 kohlrabi
1 cup white sauce
Wash and pare vegetables. Cut in thin slices. Cook in salted boiling water until tender. Drain and add to white sauce. Kohlrabi is a variety of cabbage and is a delicious vegetable. It should be used when young and tender.

Rosindale Woman Recommends

This Prescription

Mrs. Albert J. Patch of Rosindale, Mass., writes: "Before taking your medicine (Dr. True's Elixir) I was troubled with what I thought stomach trouble. I had that terrible gnawing in my stomach nearly all the time. Within half an hour after eating a hearty meal, I would have that same disagreeable feeling. I was losing in weight every day. After taking your medicine (Dr. True's Elixir) I was relieved of the terrible gnawing in my stomach, expelled worms, and I felt like a new person in many ways, and would heartily recommend it to any one suffering as I did." Headaches, tired feeling, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, constipation can be relieved, if you take the prescription known as Dr. True's Elixir. The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, ever since 1851—over 63 years reputation. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY OF ITS OWN

Should you receive a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley the sender pays you a subtle compliment, for this blossom signifies unconscious sweetness in the language of the flowers. It also represents the return of happiness.

Lily-of-the-valley is one of the flowers dedicated to the Virgin Mary and is also known as Our Lady's tears.

Used For Medicine

The ancients attributed great medicinal properties to this plant. A delicious, perfumed liquid was distilled from the flowers, which, it is said, was a remedy for nervous disorders. This liquid was considered so valuable that it was kept only in bottles of silver or gold.

In the middle ages, beauty doctors prescribed the blossoms of the lily-of-the-valley gathered before sunrise and rubbed on the face as a cure for freckles. In some English counties, a superstition is found that the person who transplants a bed of these lilies will die within the next year.

Legend of Origin

The legend of the origin of this flower tells of a hermit, St. Leonard, who lived about 500 A.D. in the forest of Louvain, in France. Near him dwelt a huge dragon, and often terrible struggles took place between them. The beast, representing temptation, was driven back continually until it finally disappeared. Where the combats took place, beds of lilies-of-the-valley sprang up, marking the place where the blood of the holy man had sprinkled the ground.

be read and pondered by all the American people within the confines of the United States but also by all other civilized nations. Here today you will chart the course to be followed by the republican party in the great electoral contest which lies before us and will declare your purposes and those of the party you lead when the authority of government is once more committed to our keeping.

We await this declaration, untroubled by any doubts and with the most entire confidence. All who are familiar with your character and career and most especially those who have taken part with you in public service know beyond a peradventure that you are a patriotic American, imbued with the spirit of the great leaders of the past, of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt, whose services to the American people have become forever memorable in our history. You will always, and instinctively, in meeting the difficult questions and weighty responsibilities which confront you, think with complete unselfishness of your country and your country's interests first, a high qualification for an exalted office not too familiar to us of late and therefore peculiarly necessary at this moment.

You will, we are certain, be ever faithful to the finest traditions of the republican party and at the same time, we are equally sure that you are wisely tolerant and open-minded, in sympathy with the best movements of the time, looking forward to the future and its needs but never unmindful of the great basic principles upon which the builders of the republic laid the foundation of our government.

Domestic and economic questions of extreme complexity and difficulty must be dealt with at once in such a way as to meet the needs of the time. We shall not attempt to discuss these questions in any detail because we know that you will declare your policies in regard to them in accordance not only with the lifelong principles of the republican party but also with the opinions recently declared by the republican convention at Chicago. It is not for us to enumerate them to you, for it is to you we look to set forth the proper policies to be pursued by the republican party both in the campaign and when charged with the responsibility of administration and legislation. Our immediate duty and that of all republicans and all true Americans who are thinking of the problems and perils of the present and of the future is to give you such generous and complete support that when you take up the duties of the great office for which you have been nominated, you will find a house and senate in full sympathy with your purposes and ready to aid you in every way in carrying them to fulfillment.

In defense of freedom and civilization and to vindicate our own invaded rights we entered upon the war with Germany and although you were tardy in taking part in that great conflict we came upon the field of action in time to turn the scale for right and liberty. Not content with aiding Europe to bring to pass the peace which all desired after victory was won, Mr. Wilson undertook to make us members of an alliance with foreign powers in defiance of the sovereignty and the safety of the United States. This effort on the part of the president was arrested by the action of the republicans of the senate, who proposed protecting reservations which he defeated together with the treaty itself. In that work, you, sir, took a conspicuous part and we know that you were in full accord with the belief of your republican colleagues that the League of Nations as proposed by Mr. Wilson and upon which he and his party still insist ought never to be accepted by the American people.

No national campaign for the presidency has ever evoked graver issues than this one, which now lies before us. Upon you, sir, will rest the great duty and heavy burden of executive authority. We look to you in full confidence to lead us and the people of our beloved country out from the darkness and confusion which the war has brought upon mankind into the light which shines upon a nation where peace reigns and the love of justice, of law and of order rules in the hearts of the people. Then we can again take up the work of advancing the United States along the broad road that leads to success, the road which we have followed for more than a century. Then indeed we shall not only rise to still loftier heights of achievement for ourselves, but be enabled to render the largest and finest service to humanity.

OLD POSTAL MEN NOT TO RETIRE ON AUG. 22

BOSTON, July 22.—Postal employees who have reached the retirement age, but who are still efficient, have apparently won their fight to be allowed to remain in the service and not be automatically retired on Aug. 22.

This is indicated in orders received yesterday by postoffice officials in this city and signed by Postmaster-General Burleson, which ask that all applications for continuance in office, with recommendations from supervisory officers, shall be forwarded at once to Washington.

This order, postal authorities admit, shows a radical change of front from the announced intention by Postmaster-General Burleson a short time ago, to pension all those who are beyond the age limit. The head of the department stated that he would not certify to the civil service commission any person 65 years of age or over, although the act passed by congress on May 22 stated specifically that those who "by reason of his or her efficiency and willingness to remain" would be "advantageous to the public service" might be retained.

Out of 134 employees in the Boston post office, it was said last night that about 65 per cent. will be recommended by their superiors as fit and willing to keep at work. In addition, there are 66 men in the railway mail service who come within the retiring act, and it is believed fully two-thirds of this number will be allowed to stay for the two more years.

ation that it be accepted; two more were undecided, and one, the brotherhood of railway telegraphers, had decided to reject the award and was said to be preparing for a strike ballot.

Efforts to compromise the attitudes of the various brotherhoods were under way this morning and hope for a report by the union chiefs to the 1000 general chairmen, was entertained. It was pointed out that, should no agreement be reached by the heads of the brotherhoods, each organization might take individual action on the award.

Despite the differences of opinion among the leaders, the union chiefs reiterated today that there was no danger of an immediate and concerted strike. They also were inclined to believe reported efforts of members of the Chicago Yardenes Association, 150 of whom struck in Chicago yesterday, to bring about a general walkout and declared that sporadic strikes will be fought to the last ditch by the international unions.

The railway labor board, which yesterday declined to reopen the railway wage cases at the request of the brotherhoods and expressed the opinion that it had done all possible in the case of the railroad employees, today began hearings on the application for increased pay of 70,000 employees of the American Express Co., who were not included in the railway men's award.

The board declared that reopening the investigation would delay the back pay award, which they believe the workers should receive in their August 1 pay envelopes. The award was made retroactive to May 1, and the back pay is estimated to average about $200 apiece for the workers benefited by the increases.

SWITCHING CREWS OF C. B. & A. QUIT

DENVER, Colo., July 21.—Eight switching crews of three men each, representing the entire night force of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road here, quit work at midnight. Railroad officials said there was no explanation and the action came without warning. They also said the men are members of the recently formed railroad union.

TO REPAIR FIRE DAMAGE

A permit to repair damage caused by the recent fire in their store in John street has been issued by the city hall. The work is being done by Arthur P. Babcock and includes plastering, the installation of new windows and a new slate roof. The estimated cost of the repairs is $1500.

NEW WATERPOWER ACT TO BE DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Amendment of the new waterpower act so as to exclude the national parks from its provisions, will be demanded of congress at its next session, it is announced by Robert Sterling Yerd, executive secretary of the National Parks association. Mr. Yerd also says that a fight will be made to have congress reject pending legislation, which he asserts, opens the way for irrigation projects to draw on the parks for water.

Without amendment, Mr. Yerd says the waterpower act is "the death warrant of our national parks system," because all government owned land and reservations are embraced within its terms, making it possible for private interests to erect dams, power-houses, transmission lines and other structures by obtaining leases from the federal waterpower commission.

It was not until the waterpower bill reached President Wilson for approval that discovery was made by conservationists that national parks would be affected, and now the fight, Mr. Yerd says, will be made for its amendment.

Besides the effort to change the waterpower act, Mr. Yerd says an effort will be made to prevent favorable action on pending legislation, granting permission to private interests to build an irrigation reservoir in an obscure swamp in the southwestern corner of the Yellowstone national park, miles from any road. This measure, he asserts, would be the opening wedge for a number of irrigation plans for other national parks.

Mr. Yerd anticipates that other legislation, including a proposal for damming Yellowstone lake, will be brought before congress, all of which he contends would tend to destroy the beauty of America's playgrounds. "The conservation associations and many institutions throughout the

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Down, druggist, and Fred Howard, druggist, have been appointed agents for Allen in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.—Adv.

country," Mr. Yerd says, "are even organizing now for the defense of the parks. Our new national parks system has fairly caught the imagination of this idealistic and very practical people, who see in it not only a system of exhibits of the native American wilderness, untouched, for all time, but the beginning of a colossal national economic asset which shall enormously spur domestic travel and business, and bring increasing thousands of foreign visitors here every summer to see them. Any legislation which will detract from the value of the name national park as a national trademark in the competition for the world's travel is likely to arouse a mighty storm of popular protest."

VISIT THE CITY SWIMMING POOL

Members of the Girls' Community club met at the club rooms at 2:30 this afternoon and went to the municipal swimming pool on the boulevard for the afternoon. They were under the direction of Miss Bawlia Lawler of the club who was ready to give swimming instructions to any of the girls.

This evening the girls will take part in a long hike through the country out Tewksbury way.

SECOND NUMBER OF CAMP NAB- NASSSETT "SKEETER" IS A REAL LIVE EDITION

This year's second issue of the Y.M.C.A. Camp Nabnassett "Skeeter" has just been issued. This number proves very interesting and contains the continued story by Roland Bing Falls on the "Batville baseball team," a group of editorials by the editor-in-chief, C.W. Morse, a lively sporting section by the sporting editor, W. P. Doggett, a page of knocks and another of cartoons by "Jack" Barry.

There are now 100 boys in camp. This means that the camp is full to capacity, but through a better system of handling at meal times and on other occasions there is not the discomfort experienced with a large number of boys in previous years.

Baseball is gaining headway under the leadership of Bing Falls. The camp team has won four games and lost two for an average of 66.66. There are many more games on the schedule.

Mr. Krnel of the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., who is touring the camps in this part of the country as representative of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps, paid a visit to camp and gave an exhibition of shooting with a shotgun as well as a rifle.

The camp baseball team has defeated the "Hustlers" of Graniteville by the score of 11 to 9 and the Forge Village team, 19 to 8, and lost to the Graniteville A.C. by the score of 16 to 2. In a return game with Forge Village the Y.M.C.A. team won by the score of 14 to 6.

In the last tent shoot at camp, tent No. 3 won the honors, getting 47 out of a possible 50. Ray McKittrick was the representative.

Alkali In Soap Bad for the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulisid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulisid coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton.

MRS. TINGLING GETS A REST

"But what shall I do while you are fixing my suit?" asked Tingling, the fairy landlady, of Oliver Oriole, who had offered to put in gussets, as Tingling was getting so round and fat his clothes no longer fitted.

Oliver thought a minute, then suddenly he had a bright idea. "Go to bed," he suggested. "I'll call Mrs. Oriole to turn down the covers, and you can crawl in until your suit is finished. Nick and Nancy can wait here with me, and I'll tell them a story while you're resting."

"Oh," yawned Tingling slipping off

his coat. "It sounds good to me. Children, you can tell Oliver about your monkey and perhaps he may be able to help you to find him. Now, Oliver, where shall I go?"

Mrs. Oriole had appeared by this time, so she took Tingling off to her spare room, where he was soon snoring loudly. The breeze swayed the branch up and down, and who, I should like to know, could stay awake under such circumstances? It was better than being swung in a hammock, or riding over billowy waves, or even sailing in an aeroplane, although I'm not so sure the bird tailor said he knew a poem and, if the children would like to hear it, he'd start right in.

Can you wait till tomorrow to hear it?

YOUR GIRL'S APPETITE

When your growing daughter's appetite becomes fickle and she shows a desire for sour, starchy or chalky articles, look after the condition of her blood.

If she is pale and languid, nervous, without ambition and irritable, her blood is unable to meet the demands made upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific remedy for the form of anemia, or lack of blood that afflicts growing girls and proper treatment with these pills will not only correct the trouble but prevent it from progressing into a worse form.

During her teens, a girl lays the foundation for her future health. Lack of blood at this time may rob her of robust, healthy womanhood. It is of the greatest importance to administer to girls who grow pale and weak a safe, non-alcoholic tonic and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills meet every requirement of the most careful mother.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and enable it to carry renewed health and strength to every part of the body. These pills are recommended wherever a tonic is needed.

Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet "Building Up the Blood." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

BATTERY B MAY GO TO WASHINGTON

On a visit to Plymouth, Vt., where he spent a day with Governor Coolidge, Captain MacBrayne of the local battery discussed with the vice presidential candidate the possibility of the Lowell battery acting as special escort in the inaugural ceremony in the event of republican success.

Because plans for participation in the inaugural parade are taking shape, Battery B is the first one of the state to send in requisitions for uniforms to Boston.

With a representative of Sousa's band Captain MacBrayne made arrangements yesterday at two local hotels for accommodations of the 70 musicians of the band who will visit this city on Aug. 13. Mayor Thompson and Lieut. Commander Sousa will be entertained at dinner by the officers of the battery on that date.

POTATO CHIP FACTORY BURNED

The Granite state potato chip factory, located on North Broadway between Salem Depot and Canobie lake section in Salem, N. H., and owned by William T. Croft of this city, was burned to the ground late yesterday afternoon. The fire started around the kettle used to fry the potatoes and as soon as the blaze was discovered an alarm was sent in, but when the firemen reached the premises the flames were bursting through the roof. The fire fighters removed the desk which contained papers and other valuables and then gave their attention to keeping the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. The loss will be heavy for besides the building the machinery in the plant as well as 60 barrels of potatoes and 25 barrels of oil valued at over $2000 were destroyed. Mr. Croft will rebuild his plant and in the meantime he will continue the manufacture of chips in temporary quarters.

SIMPLICITY IN DANCING

World's Most Famous Dancer

Will Discuss Golden Rules of His Art

"Maurice is the most famous ballroom dancer in the world. His name was a household word in the ballrooms not only of New York but also of Paris and London some years before the war.

LEONORA HUGHES

What he has to say, therefore, about modern dancing must carry considerable weight."

So says the Dancing Times, a monthly London magazine devoted to the terpsichorean art, in writing of Maurice in its June issue this year.

Maurice is a handsome young American of French ancestry, who is as much admired and feted in London and Paris as he is in New York.

Following upon his successful season of exhibition dancing in "The Cascades," in New York, Maurice and his pretty partner, Miss Leonora Hughes, have been the reigning sensation in the famous Piccadilly restaurant in London. Later they go to Aix-les-Bains.

MAURICE

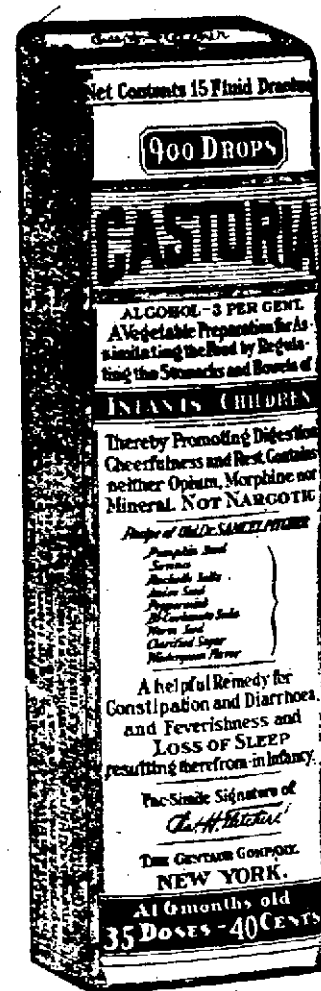

and other noted French summer resorts before returning to the United States. The European representative of this paper has secured from Maurice three signed articles and his latest dancing photographs taken in London. The articles will be as follows: "Simplicity in the Ballroom," "Simplicity in Dancing," "Three Golden Rules of the Dance." The Sun will print the first of these articles on the woman's page Saturday.

Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher Honestly advertised, Honestly placed before the public and from which he Honestly expects to receive his reward.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Ten years without a corn

Countless people boast that record now.

Years ago they started using Blue-jay. Never since has a corn pained twice. And never has a corn stayed a week.

You can quickly prove that corns are needless. Millions have already done it.

Think what it means.

No more pain, no more pain, no more unsightly pads. Dainty shoes without unhappy hours.

Apply a touch of liquid Blue-jay or a Blue-jay plaster.

The corn pain will end. And soon the whole corn will loosen and come out.

The action is gentle but sure. Blue-jay is the scientific method, created by this world-famed laboratory.

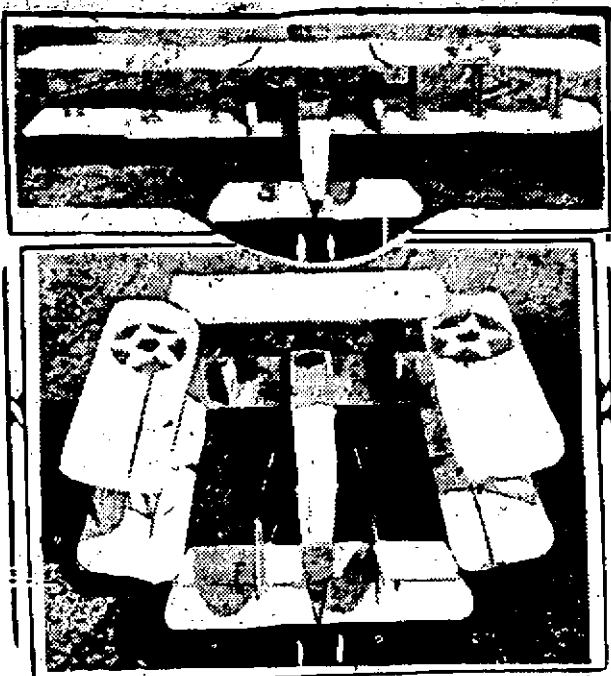

It is not like the methods which are harsh and crude.

FOR FOUR-FOLD PLAN

Legioners to Fight for Pro-Bonus Stand—Contests for Offices Develop

The bonus proposition for service men will be one of the most important topics to be discussed at the state convention of the American Legion, which will be held next month at Springfield.

This subject is being revived with vigor by the veterans who will attend the state sessions as delegates from their respective posts and an intensive campaign already is under way to carry the bonus fight to the convention once more, this time to go on record unconditionally in favor of it.

Recent Previous Stands

The disposition made of the subject at the last department convention at Worcester and the similar stand taken by the national meeting at Minneapolis was far from satisfactory to the rank and file of the legion. In plain terms they told their delegates so on their return from both sessions.

After what appeared to be "passing the buck" between the heads of the legion and congress, a popular demand compelled the national body to bring the matter to the attention of congress with the result that a four-fold plan of adjusted compensation was presented.

The fate of this plan is known to all legioners, who by their muteness condemned the action congress took in laying the whole proposition over until the next session in December. The veterans interpreted this move by congress as an attempt to keep the service men out of the presidential campaign as a potent factor. In their resentment, legion members from all parts of the state intend to bring the whole matter to the floor of the state convention and force the Massachusetts department to take the lead in making the bonus a live issue.

Without question, if this battle is won by the bonus advocates it will bind the Massachusetts delegates to the national convention at Cleveland in September to open fire before the national body and resurrect what seemed to many a dormant topic and make something to talk about besides politics.

Candidates for the various state department offices are being mentioned daily, some of the boomlets finding fair sailing while others collapse with flat refusals of the nominees to allow their names to be used in connection with the political side of the legion.

Gen. John H. Sherburne, known to all legioners, is being boosted for the commandship. He has neither denied nor affirmed his attitude yet and it is expected his friends will continue to push his candidacy vigorously confident that he is the logical man for the berth. Sherburne's activities as head of the state commission on the necessities of life in pursuing the profiteers, have made him a prominent figure to be reckoned with if he consents to run.

From Essex county comes the A. Platt Andrew boom. Andrew hails from Gloucester and is the present vice commander of the state department. He is popular and has friends throughout the state. His work overseas, long before the United States entered the war, in organizing the American field service for the French, won commendation.

Luther W. Faulkner, commander of Lowell post, has been mentioned as one of two likely candidates for the office of vice commander.

Major James T. Duane of Clinton is another service man with an enviable record whose supporters are insistent that he consent to be a candidate. His campaign was launched almost simultaneously at Worcester and Boston. For many months "Jimmy" Duane, as he is popularly called, has been assisting a multitude of service men through his position as head of the state bonus department at the state house, and as director of the state welfare committee of the legion. He is regarded as a formidable candidate and if he remains in the contest, may win.

Col. Thomas F. Foley of Worcester, beloved by all Worcester veterans, has steadfastly refused to sanction the campaign which legioners in all sections of the state have taken up voluntarily in his behalf. It is generally conceded that Foley would defeat any opponent for the position, but his approval is still wanting.

Others whose hats are in the ring are William J. Jennings, commander of All-Dorchester post, a veteran of three wars and popular with the rank and file of the organization; Commander Frank Patten of Hammond post, Dorchester.

It's funny that females are chickens before marriage, peck on the honey-moon, and old hens six months after marriage.

STOP COAL EXPORTS

Already The Sun has spoken quite plainly on the outrageous coal situation in which the domestic coal supply is shipped abroad—to Italy, France, Spain, Egypt, Sweden, Brazil, Argentina, Chili and other countries, while the domestic consumer cannot secure enough to keep the wheels of industry running, unless he pays a price higher than that offered by the representatives of foreign nations assembled at Hampton Roads.

There is every evidence of profiteering in coal by the exporters—the mine operators and the three carrying railroads that have been dumping vast quantities of coal at Hampton Roads and selling it to the highest bidder, mainly foreigners. "Any American buyer can get all the coal he wants in Hampton Roads," declared a prominent Norfolk exporter, "provided he will pay the price."

That statement alone should bring down the prompt action of the government to punish the profiteers who tell the American consumer that if he wants to buy American coal, he can do so only by paying a higher price than is offered by foreign nations whose supply has been long ago exhausted by the operations of war.

Since when did it happen that foreigners have as much right to the necessities of life produced on American soil as have our own citizens? The republican party has a protective policy intended to protect domestic industries against foreign competition. More important is it, however, to protect the American people against foreign competition in the coal supply of the nation, extracted from American mines, shipped over American railroads and delivered to foreigners at the government piers at Hampton Roads.

While New England and other parts of the country have been clamoring for more coal, and while industries are at the point of shutting down for want of coal, the mine operators and the railroads under their control, delivered at Hampton Roads 1,742,222 tons of coal in March, 1,826,129 tons in April and an increasing amount every month since. Thus the coal supply of the nation is being shipped abroad while the country is threatened with a suspension of industry for lack of coal.

It is alleged that the coal scarcity is due to a shortage of coal cars; but the fact remains that contracts for coal at the mine made early in the year are yet to be filled and are being now neglected.

The Interstate Commerce commission on June 24 issued a priority order in favor of coal shipments to New England, but the American buyer must first get his coal to the pier and then get his ship, and if he has both in readiness, he may get a place for loading, while the loaded ships of foreign nations move out only to give way to others waiting to be loaded.

This business, this exportation of the nation's coal supply, is apparently conducted with the full approval of the administration at Washington. Thus far there has been no word from Washington to stop the export of coal. It is asked whether the president can stop or even limit the export; but of that there is no doubt whatever. We are still officially at war and President Wilson in the exercise of his executive authority as president and commander in chief of the army and navy can place an embargo on the export of coal at any moment.

Why does he not do it? Is he more interested in the foreign nations that are carrying off our coal than in the people of these United States whose safety and interests should have first claim upon government protection?

Even on the ground of profiteering the coal exporters are said to be reaping profits amounting in some cases to 2500 per cent.

Where now is Attorney General Palmer or the Department of Justice, that neither sees fit to move in this matter? But undoubtedly both may feel that it is the business of the president and peculiarly his duty to place an embargo on the export of coal until such times as the domestic needs are satisfied.

Undoubtedly he wishes to see Cox and Roosevelt elected in November, but if he does not move promptly to relieve this coal situation, he will make their success absolutely impossible.

Already the people of the entire nation are being fleeced by the coal profiteers and no government official has lifted a hand or uttered a word to stop the outrage that is being perpetrated upon the American people.

What is demanded is an embargo on the export of coal to prevent the robbery of the American people and the suspension of some of the most important industries, leaving vast numbers of people idle and at the point of starvation.

OVER THE PEAK

Assurances have been given so many times that the cost of living had reached its peak and would soon show a decline that people are likely to take with a large grain of salt any similar statements that may be put forth. Nevertheless, there are reliable indications that at last prices are to cease—possibly already have ceased—to mount upward and that they are destined to begin to descend to levels more nearly approaching those that existed previous to the war.

As we all know, woolen mills are closed for lack of orders. The leather industry has been hard hit by the slackening of demand for shoes. Some time ago there was a heavy decline in the silk market, and last week came a break in wheat prices caused by the fact that a large part of the 1919 grain crop is still on the farms and a bumper harvest is soon to be gathered.

It is possible that all of these happenings will bear some other interpretation, but the most reasonable explanation of them is, that at last production has in some measure caught up with the demands of buyers, and that as a consequence, in the near future merchants will seek for purchasers by lowering prices instead of raising them and standing by their doors and watching crowds flock in to buy.

The deflation of credits, ordered by the Federal Reserve bank authorities, is going on all the time, and this undoubtedly must result in a certain, if gradual, reduction in the cost of commodities.

Altogether the ultimate consumer, and the business man and producer as well, can look with complacency upon the forces that seem to be silently yet steadily moving to bring costs back to a safer and more reasonable level.

James A. Patten, former "king of the grain pit," predicts that flour, potatoes and foodstuffs generally will come down by next winter and asserts that the reduction in clothing prices has come to stay.

He says the talk of farm labor shortage is exaggerated and, all in all, takes a view of the future that is pleasant for the housewife and the man on the payroll to contemplate.

Patten is just voicing his own opinions. What are they worth? Is he right or is he wrong?

Well, Patten is 68 years of age and has reached the period of life when he carefully weighs what he says.

Moreover, Patten is a wealthy man and he made his money by being able to outguess his fellow man on the very thing on which he is talking, namely, food prices. Patten achieved fame as a wheat speculator on the Chicago board of trade.

He backed his guesses time and again with his money, and won. His predictions look good and safe. His personality and achievements make them worth while. The reasons he gives substantiate his views. We shall see whether his predictions come true.

A DAY OF EXAGGERATION

The story is told of Mark Twain that, when someone called his attention to a report that had appeared in the newspapers that he was dead, he remarked that the "report is slightly exaggerated."

Taking Mark's standard as a basis we might safely conclude that "slight exaggeration" is the proper description to use in referring to many of the conditions in the world around us as we see them from day to day.

The war tumbled us so suddenly out of a world of little things into a new world of the boundaries of which we have not yet been able to take cognizance, and it did it with such despatch and thoroughness, that we scarcely realize our present position. As a consequence, having lost most of our old standards, we exaggerate. We exaggerate in dress. Styles that we see on the streets would have been considered the products of disordered imaginations a few years ago. An era is here of exaggeration in literature. A good part of the books of fiction issued by the press for idle readers, deals with abnormal situations. The art of treating simple men and women in a way to make their actions interesting seems to have been lost by fiction writers. Exaggeration long ago invaded the stage. Musical comedy, that is neither musical nor humorous and that deals mainly with malevolent sex situations, is the only attraction that can draw a crowd.

Wages are exaggerated, incomes are exaggerated, we manufacture millionaires at the rate of one or two every minute and we dash about the country at exaggerated rates of speed that our ancestors never dreamed of.

Sometimes, of course, we shall get back to earth again, and we shall then be fully as comfortable, if not more so, than at any stage of the exaggeration period.

THE RAILROAD AWARD

The railroad men would be very foolish to make any move towards a strike as a protest against the alleged inadequacy of the amount of the award. They should remember that prices which mean wages are also beginning to come down. If a railroad strike were declared now, it would probably be the last that would ever be tolerated on the railroads of this country. There is a limit to what the people will stand. It is understood to be exceeded when any body of men undertakes to override the government and to paralyze the industries of the country.

Governor Cox, photographed on a visit to his farm after being nominated for president, seems very ridiculous to the eye of the Courier-Citizen editor; but why overlook the ludicrous pose of Governor Coolidge photographed in the role of farmer on his father's farm in Vermont? If the appeal is to the agricultural vote, we surmise that the farmers will put their faith in Cox rather than Coolidge despite the ribaldry of republican organs.

With a Grecian army battering down his doors, alien warships guarding his coasts, and foreigners in control of the government offices in Constantinople, the Sick Man of Europe gravely announces that he is willing now to sign the peace treaty. He seems to be in the position of a man trying to negotiate an insurance policy while his house is burning.

The Farmer-Labor candidate for president shows considerable egotism when he announces that he doesn't wish to take advantage of Candidate Debs by running against him while he is in jail. Does he really harbor the delusion that his chances of being elected are so good that he is in a position to take advantage of the imprisoned socialist leader?

If you are envying the people who are witnessing the yacht races from sailing craft off Sandy Hook, remember that if you were there you would probably be seasick, and that anyway you may get a really better idea of what is going on by sitting in the cool shade of your own vine and fig tree and reading the newspapers.

A correspondent writes to a Boston paper to ask: "What is our country coming to?" That's easy—a presidential election, inauguration of Cox and Roosevelt and four years of prosperity and good government for everybody.

If Lowell were backward in growing during the ten year census period, Middlesex county wasn't, and its population is now greater than that of two New England states combined.

The railroad men do not need to worry about funds to pay vacation expenses. It is already for them in the hands of the corporations to be paid over under the wage award that is made retroactive to May 1.

Civil service for municipal laborers and some other employees appears to be a flat failure. There should be some reasonable exceptions to the ironclad rules.

Perhaps Lowell's election count-siders may take a hint from the announcement that registering places for women voters are to be opened in Boston, August 2.

Parcel Post Package

A clerk in the employ of a New York business man, while a fair worker, is yet an individual of pronounced eccentricity. One day a wire basket fell off the top of the clerk's desk and scratched his cheek. Not having any court plaster at hand he shipped on three 2-cent stamps and continued his work. A few minutes later he had occasion to take a paper to his employer's private office. When he entered the "old man" observing the postage stamps on the clerk's cheek, fixed him with an astonished stare. "Look here, Tom," he exclaimed. "You are carrying too much postage for second class matter!"

Pa is Scholarly

Pa Asklitt had read every word in the evening edition of the Morning Glory. He was restless—with nothing to do till tomorrow.

"Say, Thomas, let's play checkers. Batcha a quarter I win the first game!" he said to his only son.

"All right, Pa," and Tommy dropped his books with alacrity. But not for long.

"William, Tommy must finish his lesson first—then checkers. Back to your books, Thomas," said ma, with every evidence of being the boss of the house. Only she wasn't.

"Aw!" growled Tommy. "But, pa, maybe if you help me, I might get through sooner."

"Huh! More doggone idiotic fool questions. Can't I?"

"All right, then, pa. I guess I can't play."

"Oh, well. Fire away. Who was—where was—what was—Out with it!"

"Well," laughed Tommy. "Tell me all you know about Confucius, Pa."

"Confucius—confucius. Oh, Confucius is the Latin for the verb 'confuse'."

"Confuse—confucius—confucium."

Tommy looked with admiration at his learned father, who caught the look.

"Ahem! Confucius—confucium—confuciant," continued Pa superiorly.

Mrs. Asklitt choked slightly and left the room. Tommy wrote all this information down for the next day's use and doubtful result.

"Now, Pa. Who was the mother of George Washington?"

"Why, Mrs. Washington, of course. You're pretty stupid for being my son," said Pa, with a frown.

Two minutes later both were in the depths of a thrilling checker game.

A Name in the Sand

Alone I walked the ocean strand; A pebbly shell was in my hand; I stooped and wrote upon the sand Of all the mortal part that I had known— Of all that mortal part that I bore. As onward from the spot I passed— One lingering look behind I cast— A wave came rolling, high and fast, And washed my lines away.

And so, methought, "Twit! shortly he! With every mark on earth from me; A wave of dark oblivion's sea! Will sweep across the place Where I have trod the sandy shore Of time—and been, to be no more! Of all this mortal part that I bore, Of all this thinking soul that I thought, And from these fleeting moments— caught— For glory or for shame."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I ran across one of the most unusual Christian names the other evening that I have ever been my lot to hear. It is a pretty good name, as names go, but I doubt if in one case out of a hundred the intelligent compositor and argu-eyed proofreader would let it get into type spelled correctly. When the young lady who hears the name was introduced to me I caught the word "Zephyr" as being the one that her parents had fastened upon her when she was christened. The name didn't fit—she was not zephyrlike—but there isn't anything uncommon about that. But the name didn't sound exactly like "Zephyr" after all. Later, at the risk of giving offence, I asked for further information. As she pronounced her name I was at a loss to know how it might be spelled. Therefore, I handed her a pencil and asked her if she would write it for me. Here is what was on the card as she handed it back to me: Miss Sfa—. As to pronouncing it, she told me that the name is spoken just as it is spelled—S-f-a—each letter being pronounced as though it stood separately, with the "a" long. I asked the young woman how she happened to be blessed with such an unusual and, on the whole, euphonious name, and she replied that she did not know, but that she believed it was sort of a family heirloom that had been borne by some of her ancestors. The name is unique, but it seems to me that any young woman might prefer to bear it instead of being one of the innumerable host of "Violets," "Pansies," "Pearls," and "Daisies." But, speaking of unusual names, I have another friend, who claims to be the seventh son of a seventh son. His own name is Obediah and his six brothers were christened, Ezekiel, Ebenezer, Jotham, Joshua, Jonas and Joel—the latter two being names of twins.

Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department tells me that Sunday baseball is working out most successfully in Lowell and that both the general public and the young men and boys who participate in the games have found general enjoyment and pleasure in this relaxing of the rigidity of laws governing the Sabbath. Although in many instances the crowds which have attended Sunday games on some of the larger commons and playgrounds have numbered well into the thousands, nevertheless, there has been no tumultuous shouting or undue noise such as many of the opponents of Sunday baseball had predicted. The only difficulty with which the park department had to contend at first in the regulation of the Sunday sports law was the assignment of grounds. Very often a number of teams would want the same grounds on the same day and it was frequently a delicate proposition to satisfy them all. Now, however, the park department keeps track of all Sunday games and is thus able to allot the commons to various teams in their proper turn.

CORNER STONE FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

The corner stone of the new high school building in Kirk street will be laid within a short time, according to plans of the high school building commission. Architect Henry L. Bourke has been instructed to secure a metallic box which can be hermetically sealed and this will be sunk into the masonry at one of the corners of the building. It will contain documents pertaining to the construction of the school. The commission has not yet determined whether there will be formal exercises in connection with the laying of the corner stone.

COLUMBUS IN DEMOCRATIC HANDS

WASHDAY—yet time for play

A new way of washing clothes! Gets them on the line snowy white at 9 a. m.

Try the new Rinso way on your next wash. When you see how easy it is you will never go back to the old hard way of rubbing and boiling.

OFF for a lark—on washday! Your washing all finished—ages ago—snowy white, sprinkled and ready for ironing! Your home in perfect order! Plenty of time for a romp with the children! And still time left to prepare dinner—fresh and untired at the end of the day—on washday!

"What, on washday?" you question. You see yourself rubbing away for hours at the washboard—lifting heavy garments from the steaming boiler! Kitchen all damp with the steam—disordered, cluttered up. Your face flushed, worried. Even if you have a laundress to help you, there is still so much work to do that at the end of the day you have that "limp as a rag" feeling, that leaves its traces for the rest of the week!

Yet the new way of washing—based on a very simple new idea—makes washing so easy that it can be all done the first thing in the morning.

Soak your clothes clean—instead of rubbing the dirt out!

When you rub your clothes clean over the washboard—the old way—you are simply forcing the dirt out of your clothes by friction. A hard, tiresome method—it wears you out completely.

The new way is simply to soak your clothes overnight (or for three hours) with Rinso, a wonderful new product made by the makers of Lux.

The pure Rinso suds soften the dirt, loosen it, free it from the fabric. All you have to do is just rinse the clothes and the dirt floats right out. Only cuff edges, hems, and badly soiled places need a light rubbing between your hands.

You do not even have to boil the clothes unless you wish to sterilize them occasionally—once a month or so.

Makes your clothes last longer

This new way of washing is easier on your clothes.

Rubbing over the hard metal washboard wears them out more than using them does. The new Rinso way saves your clothes from all this cruel rubbing. It saves them from the harsh washing powders, strong laundry soaps and sodas that "eat" the fabric.

In Rinso there are absolutely no harsh cleansing agents. There is nothing to injure colors. It is so mild your clothes are as safe in the Rinso suds as they are in water.

A few rinsings—a light rubbing of bad spots between the hands—and your clothes are ready for the line—snowy white—at 9 o'clock in the morning!

Pick out the things that used to make washday the hardest—the men's shirts, the children's rompers, your aprons, the hand towels that get so terribly grimy. Just soak them overnight in the pure Rinso suds, and in the morning you can actually just rinse the dirt out.

Once you wash the new way you will never want to see a washboard or boiler again! It's so amazingly easy—just soak and rinse!

See for yourself what a difference it makes to take the old-fashioned washday out of the week. One package of Rinso is all you need for the new way of washing. Get a package today from your grocer or department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

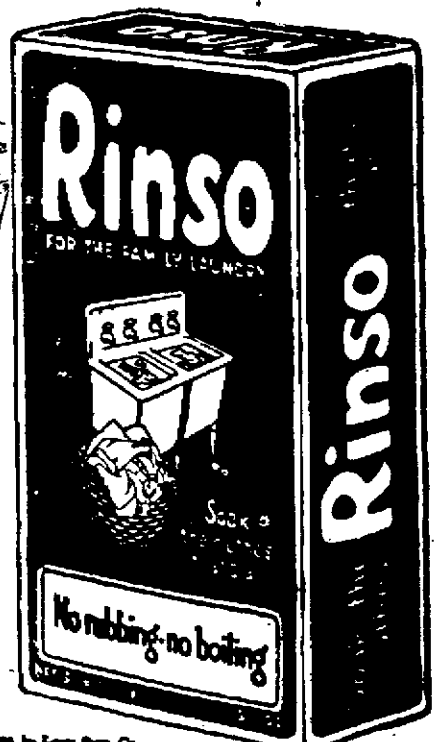

You can see by your hands how safe the Rinso way of washing clothes is. It doesn't reddens them—it doesn't get them rough or wrinkled.

Based from hard rubbing and boiling the children's clothes last twice as long. It's really wonderful how the Rinso way of washing lengthens the life of the fabric.

Maine Prospers as Thirsty "Tourists" Flock to House on the Imaginary Line

THIS IS THE "LINE HOUSE" WHERE THIRSTY "TOURISTS" GATHER NIGHTLY. THEY ENTER "DRY" SIDE AND COME OUT THE "WET" SIDE AND COME OUT THE "DRY" SIDE TANKED.

BY LORRY A. JACOBS
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

JACKMAN, Me., July 21.—Booze is flowing through Maine like water through a fire hose.

And, of course, it's Canada's fault because Canada grew so near to Maine. Maine is celebrating its one hundredth birthday this year and the celebration seems likely to continue for a long time unless the hootch supply in Canada gives out.

Maine prospers. Tourists are thick as ants. They're eating the food grown on the farms and washing it down with hootch supplied by the natives. What could be more nearly perfect?

Jackman's First Step on Dry Side

I sat on the veranda of Jackman's good hotel, "The Moose River House." Jackman is on the main automobile road to Canada and the main line of the Canadian Pacific, being the first station this side of Hootchland. It was Saturday night, and the hotel was jammed to the guards. Down the street Jackman was enjoying itself at the weekly dance. All was quiet and lovely as the sun slowly sank behind the majestic pine trees of the Maine woods.

"This is a quiet place," said I.

"Hm," said the hotel clerk, "it ain't begun yet." He will never say anything truer.

For, the sun down, a steady stream of automobiles began to appear. One after another the headlights flashed and on and on they came, one whirling after another. From the cars no noise but the whirling of the motors. "Must be a meeting some place," I observed.

"Yeh," said the clerk. Meeting at the Line house. The Modern and Fraternal Order of Hootchseekers meets there every night.

Keep Looking Young!

Nobody wants to grow old looking any faster than they can help; some look old at forty while others don't begin to show their age at seventy.

Everybody knows that to keep young looking you have first got to be blessed with good health, and second to do as little worrying as possible. Most of the ills that the flesh is heir to are caused by a disordered stomach, liver or kidneys. These can be regulated and kept in good condition by taking SEVEN BARKS, nature's great remedy of roots and herbs.

Digestive troubles also spoil beauty, rob you of sleep, make dark rings around the eyes and ruin the complexion. Let SEVEN BARKS digest your food and tone up your stomach, then you may eat what you like; bright eyes will soon return, and you will feel fit for your daily duties.

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. If you keep these organs cleansed and in proper working order, old age can be deferred and life prolonged beyond the average age. No better remedy can be found than SEVEN BARKS to keep the stomach, liver and kidneys in good order, thus assuring you good health.

Old-fashioned nature's remedies are the best, so don't fail to keep a bottle of SEVEN BARKS on hand. Get it at your druggist's. Price, 60 cents.—Adv.

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

10,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $50.00

100,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-tenth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the marks fall on option value to only one-half normal value the returns on $50.00 would be over $400.00.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange fluctuates rapidly. Send for explanatory circular.

"SUMMER SPORT" IN MAINE:

It would take nothing short of an army to stop the flow of liquor from Canada across the Maine border. The army that is now attempting to stem it consists of one United States customs official, an immigration official, three or four helpers and a sheriff and deputy sheriff.

It is estimated that places in Canada on the Maine border are selling $250,000 worth of liquor a month and that this in turn is sold in Maine and New England for nearly a million dollars. One shipment alone recently that met with an ill fate consisted of $14,000 worth of liquid joy. The cost a case in Canada is $32. In New England it is from $84 to $100. And rum runners are cheerfully paying fines of $1000 without blinking an eye.

PLEADS FOR SUN

Bud Julius Jones Will Never See it Again

CHICAGO, July 21.—Out of the unpenetrable darkness of his room in Montrose avenue hospital yesterday Julius Jones asked almost in a whisper: "Is the sun shining outside?"

He stirred restlessly until he found his wife's hand.

"Yeh, it's shining," answered Mrs. Jones.

The man who last Sunday morning missed by a hair's breadth being shot to death by Pauline Meglitch, who after firing a bullet into his temple, killed herself, sighed gratefully.

"I'm glad of that," he said, then added, "I wish I could see it."

"You poor baby," he said, and that was all just then.

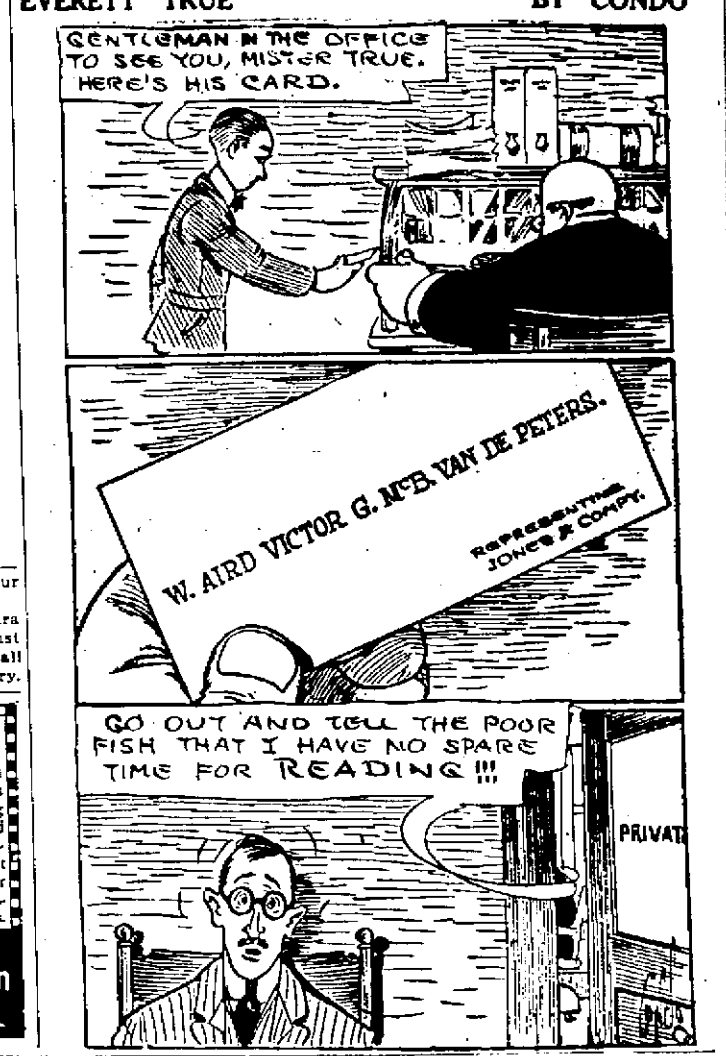

For Julius Jones will be blind for life. The last ray of hope that his sight might be saved was snuffed out when Dr. Herman A. Moje operated in a last attempt to repair the optic nerve.

"He will never see again," said Dr. Moje.

DAME RUMOR SAYS DAN CUPID IS FLIRTING WITH ROYALTY

Dame Rumor has it that the world's greatest romance threatens to center around Princess Yolanda, eldest daughter of the king and queen of Italy. It is reported that the Prince of Wales is to visit the Italian rulers after his return from Australia. Could you blame him if he felt in love with Princess Yolanda? Picture is of the Princess and the Prince.

HOW THE SHIP ACT RUNS UP DUTIES

BY HARRY B. HUNT,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The extent to which the merchant marine act of 1920 becomes a high tariff legislation may best be visualized by applying its provisions to American imports for the past two years and comparing the results following the passage of the Aldrich tariff act in 1909.

Customs duties in 1909 amounted to $300,711,031. In the year following the Aldrich revision they mounted to $313,433,445, an increase of slightly less than $13,000,000.

But if the tariff provisions of the merchant marine act of 1920 had been applied to the imports brought to this country in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, they would have added more than five times the amount of the increase resulting from the Aldrich tariff act, and would virtually have doubled our customs duties for that year.

If applied to imports for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, the increase would have been more than eight times the increase following the Aldrich bill, and would have added more than the total of all our customs duties in any year prior to 1906.

The effect of the abrogation of commercial treaties, as provided by the new merchant marine act, is to put into effect sub-section 3, section 4 of the Underwood tariff act of 1913, providing an additional 10 per cent ad valorem duty on all imports brought to this country in vessels of foreign registry.

Imports in Foreign Ships
Imports into the United States for the fiscal year 1913 amounted in value to $3,095,511,601. Of this amount $478,651,231 came in by rail or land transportation. American vessels carried $558,602,587 worth. The remainder, amounting in value to $1,741,584,516, was carried in vessels of foreign registry. Had a 10 per cent ad valorem duty been applied, the addition to customs receipts would have been $174,158,451.

How near this approaches a 100 per cent increase is shown by the fact that the total customs receipts collected for the year 1913 was $153,425,621. Any bill—whether entitled "Tariff bill" or "Merchant Marine act"—which would increase customs receipts by even 25 per cent, instead of the 45 to 100 per cent indicated by the application of the Jones' bill provisions to our imports of 1913 and 1920, certainly may properly be termed a "protective tariff bill."

WATERWAY FROM GREAT LAKES TO OCEAN

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—Demanding development of the upper St. Lawrence river to provide an open waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, 1500 delegates, representing every section of the country, assembled here today for the opening session of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tidewater congress.

During the congress, which will continue through Saturday, speakers from 16 states will urge development of a tidewater route as a means of relieving congestion at eastern ports and developing the middle west.

The objection of the congress, as outlined by officials of the Detroit board of commerce, who called the meeting, is to bring before the people and ultimately before congress, the advantages they believe would result through providing a deep waterway from the sea to the Great Lakes. Supporters of the movement declare that the Middle West would be benefited before each Great Lakes city would become an ocean port, and that the commercial and industrial life of the east would be enhanced by cheaper transportation to its markets from the interior.

W. K. VANDERBILT SICK IN PARIS

PARIS, July 22.—William K. Vanderbilt is in a very critical condition. He is reported to be slowly declining, suffering from heart trouble, with complications.

Mr. Vanderbilt, who is an ardent enthusiast and sportsman, became suddenly ill while attending the races at Auteuil on April 15. His condition next day was pronounced as much better. Since that time there have been rumors that he was seriously ill, but they were subsequently denied.

Mental Condition May Cause French President to Quit

PARIS, July 22.—There is a determined move on foot in political circles to elect a successor to President Paul Deschanel.

The president has not been in good health and three months' leave of absence appears to have done him no good. He has a great dread of crowds and public functions and this is a large part of a French executive's public life.

PRESIDENT AND MME. DESCHANEL

Some say he suffers from loss of memory and the hallucination that the whole world is persecuting him.

A French newspaper attributed the president's fall from a railway train recently to his mental condition.

REPRESENTATIVE CANDIDATE

Joseph Walker has taken out nomination papers at the office of the election commissioners as a candidate for representative in the 11th Middlesex district.

SIXTH COUNCILLOR DISTRICT FIGHT

Another warm fight in the sixth councillor district, similar to that staged last year, is scheduled for this fall, judging from the lineup of candidates. Usually the contest is waged between candidates living in opposite ends of the district, but this year there will be a fight right here in Lowell with Fred O. Lewis, former representative, and Smith J. Adams, prominent in local political circles under the old form of charter, contesting for the office. Mr. Lewis was an unsuccessful candidate last year against James G. Harris of Medford, although he put up an exceptionally strong fight. Nomination papers are in circulation in behalf of each of the candidates.

Party Above Individual

completed in permit women to vote this fall in every state. Reviewing and commending briefly many other planks of the party platform, the candidate declared for collective bargaining for farmers, repression of the disloyal, "generous federation of co-operation" in rehabilitating the railroads, intelligent deflation of the currency, enlargement of government aid in reclamation, a genuine expression of gratitude to veterans of the world war and maintenance of an ample navy and "a small army, but the best in the world."

In his promise of a party government, Senator Harding reiterated his belief that the vice president should have a part in the affairs of the chief executive's official family and declared there also should be "a cordial understanding and co-ordinated activities" between the executive and congress.

"No man," he said, "is big enough to run this great republic. Our first commitment is the restoration of representative popular government, under the constitution, through the agency of the republican party."

Promising restoration of peace as soon as a republican congress should send a peace declaration to a republican president for his signature, the candidate assailed the league covenant as brought home by President Wilson, but declared the war's sacrifices would be "in vain if we cannot acclaim a new order, with added security to civilization and peace maintained."

"We republicans of the senate," he continued, "when we saw the structure of a world supergovernment taking visionary form, joined in a becoming warning of our devotion to this republic. The republicans of the senate halted the barrier of independent American eminence and influence."

"We do not mean to hold aloof. We do not mean to shun a single responsibility of this republic. We were resolved then, even as we are today, and will be tomorrow, to preserve this free and independent republic. Let those now responsible, or seeking responsibility, propose the surrender, whether with interpretations, apologies, or reluctant reservations, from which our rights are to be omitted. We welcome the referendum to the American people on the preservation of America."

"With a senate advising as the constitution contemplates, I would hopefully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new leadership, to commit the moral forces of the world."

America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and self-reliant, but offering friendship to all the world."

Declaring railway employees ought to be the best paid in the world, the candidate emphasized the responsibility of such service and added:

"The government might well stamp railway employment with the sanctity of public service and guarantee to the railway employees that justice which the American conception of righteousness on the one hand and assures continuity of service on the other."

In his reference to prohibition and law enforcement he said:

"People ever will differ about the wisdom of the enactment of a law—there is divided opinion regarding the eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted to make it operative—but there can be no difference of opinion about honest law enforcement. Modification or repeal is the right of a free people whenever the deliberate and intelligent public sentiment commands but perversion and evasion mark the paths to the failure of government itself."

Greater Production

"It must be understood that toil alone makes for accomplishment and advancement, and righteous possession is the reward of toil, and its incentive. There is no progress except in the stimulus of competition. When competition is suppressed, whether by law, compact or conspiracy, we halt the march of progress, silence the voice of aspiration, and paralyze the will for achievement. These are but common sense truths of human development."

"The chief trouble today is that the world war wrought the destruction of healthful competition, left our storehouses empty, and there is a minimum production when our need is maximum. Maximums, not minimums, is the call of America. It isn't a new story because war never fails to leave depleted storehouses and always impairs the efficiency of production. War also establishes its higher standards for wages, and they abide. I wish the higher wage to abide, on one explicit condition—that the wage-earner will give full return for the wage received. It is the best assurance we can have for a reduced cost of living. Mark you, I am ready to acclaim the highest standard of pay, but I would be blind to the responsibilities that mark this fateful hour if I did not caution the wage-earners of America that mounting wages and decreased production can lead only to industrial and economic ruin."

"I want, somehow, to appeal to the sons and daughters of the republic, to every producer, to join hand and brain in production, more production, honest production, patriotic production, because patriotic production is no less a defense of our best civilization than that of armed force. Profiteering is a crime of commission, underproduction is a crime of omission. We must work our most and best, else the destructive reaction will come. We must stabilize and strive for normalcy, else the inevitable reaction will bring its train of sufferings, disappointments and reversals. We want to forestall such reaction. We want to Service in the War

"Though not in any partisan sense I must speak of the services of the men and women who rallied to the colors of the republic in the world war. America realizes and appreciates the services rendered, the sacrifices made and the sufferings endured. There shall be no distinction between those who knew the perils and glories of the battle front or the dangers of the sea, and those who were compelled to serve behind the lines, or those who constituted the great reserve of a grand army which awaited the call in camps at home.

"All were brave, all were sacrificing, all were sharers of those ideals which sent our boys thrice-armed to war. Worthy sons and daughters, these, fit successors to those who christened our banners in the immortal beginning, worthy sons of those who saved the union and nationally when Civil war wiped the ambiguity from the constitution, ready sons of those who drew the sword for humanity's sake the first time in the world, in 1855.

"The four million defenders on land and sea were worthy of the best traditions of a people never war-like in peace and never pacifist in war. They commanded our pride, they have our gratitude, which must have gone the expression. It is not only a duty, it is a privilege to see that the sacrifices made shall be repaid, and that those still suffering from casualties and disabilities shall be abundantly aided and restored to the highest capabilities of citizenship and its enjoyment.

"The womanhood of America, always its glory, its inspiration and the potent, uplifting force in its social and spiritual development, is about to be enfranchised. Insofar as congress can go, the fact is already accomplished. By party edict, by my recorded vote by personal conviction I am committed to this measure of justice. It is my earnest hope, my sincere desire that the one needed state vote be quickly recorded in the affirmation of the right of equal suffrage and that the vote of every citizen shall be cast and counted in the approaching election.

"Let us not share the apprehensions of many men and women as to the danger of this momentous extension of the franchise. Women have never been without influence in our political life. Enfranchisement will bring it.

Lowell Man Had Rheumatism Ten Years—Gone Now

Mr. Thomas Loomis of Lakeview ave., Lowell, Mass., suffered for ten long years before he found Goldline No. 2 and relief from the rheumatism which he thought would torture him as long as he lived. He says: "I can't describe the suffering I had to endure because of my rheumatism. At night I couldn't turn over in bed without being in the worst agony. I had to be turned over in bed by blankets. I tried many kinds of medicine but couldn't get any relief. Then I heard of Goldline No. 2, the rheumatic remedy, and got some. At once I felt that it was helping me and now I am a well man, all because of Goldline No. 2. It is wonderful."

Mr. Charles C. Thompson of 213 Chelmsford st., Lowell, Mass., says: "For the past year I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble and couldn't seem to get any relief at all. The organs were inflamed and I was not able to pass water. I got up two or three times every night. I took Goldline No. 2 and one week after starting that treatment I felt the greatest change. That medicine surely has helped me more than anything I have ever taken. I recommend Goldline No. 2 to anyone who is suffering with kidney and bladder trouble or any uric acid condition."

Goldline is put up in tablet form for convenience in carrying to work and on trips. It is also put up in liquid form, with the same ingredients, for use in the home. Goldline Morning Smile Laxatives, used with the No. 1 and No. 2 formulas, will clean out the system and enable you to get quicker and better results.

Fishermen's Co-operative Association Changes Fishing Industry From Gamble to Fair Show

ONE OF THE CO-OPERATIVE FLEET DORIES BRING IN A CATCH

BY LEE J. SMITS
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

SEATTLE, Wash., July 21.—A new democracy of the sea has been established among the fishermen of the North Pacific and, while not yet a year old, their co-operative organization has changed the fishing industry from a gamble and scramble in the open market, economically wasteful, to a stabilized pursuit.

The Pacific Sea Products association is incorporated with a capital stock of $500,000. About 200 fishermen are members. The Fishing Vessel Owners' association and the Fishermen's union, bitterly opposed at all times past, are united in the movement. Any Hampshire and were making their way Lowellward when they met with the mishap which finally led to their arrest.

Reckless Driving

Motorcycle Officer Hamilton figured in the arrest and conviction of two motorists who were found guilty of reckless driving on the Pawtucket boulevard. Hornidas Lacourse was fined $20 for endangering the lives and safety of the public last Sunday afternoon. The arresting officer testified that the defendant drove his machine at the rate of 34 to 40 miles an hour on Varnum avenue, dangerously passing many other machines on the road. There were eleven occupants in the touring car at the time.

George B. White, charged with endangering the lives and safety of the public by speeding his auto on the Pawtucket boulevard on the 15th of July pleaded not guilty. White was found guilty and ordered to pay the usual fine of $20. Officer Hamilton said he had to hit up 58 miles an hour for a distance of about 500 yards to catch up with White's machine.

fisherman can join by buying $200 worth of stock. A vessel owner invests $500 for each dory. A six-dory boat is typical in the halibut fleet.

In the first six months the association did a $210,000 business. It is now erecting a cold storage plant at Port Chatham, Alaska, equipped to freeze 1,500,000 pounds of the catch from northern waters to the market.

The housewife does not pay more for her fish through the operations of the association, but the fisherman gets more.

This is explained by the fact that under the old system, the first vessels in with a heavy catch flooded the market and the others sold their fish in haste for anything they could get to speculators who could utilize cold storage.

Now a surplus of fish is frozen in the port commission's cold storage plant for the association and sold as the market calls for it.

Profits on the wholesale marketing conducted by the association will be divided among the stockholders, who invest not only their brawn and skill in the hard task of fishing, but also their savings.

A year ago the fishermen were receiving 7½ cents a pound for halibut on the Seattle docks. It was a game of chance for them, and the wholesale buyers ran the game. Now the price is kept at about 12½ cents.

LAUNDRYMAN WHO PUNISHED BOY IS ROUGHLY HANDLED BY CROWD

An employee of the Gin Chin laundry on East Merrimack street was severely beaten by a crowd yesterday when found punishing a boy who had vexed him in some way. The laundryman chased the boy up East Merrimack street into Fayette where he proceeded to punish him. Friends of the boy interfered in his behalf and handled the laundryman pretty roughly. Only for the efforts of an employee of a nearby store, the laundryman would have been seriously injured.

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT FOOD

has come down through centuries of study and experiment. The most perfect foods for man are the whole wheat grain, green vegetables and fruits. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is 100 per cent whole wheat, nothing wasted or thrown away. Here is a perfect luncheon: Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk, a dish of lettuce salad, a dish of sliced oranges—strengthening, satisfying and easily digested. Shredded Wheat is readycooked and ready-to-eat.

LAST CALL

To Our 13th Anniversary Sale

We are just about winding up one of the most successful sales we have ever had. The people who have visited as during this famous sale will, we hope, keep in their minds the fact that when we announce a sale we don't go about it in a half-hearted way. We aim to give real values, and we do, regardless of consequences. The bargains are not all gone; we have sold out many of the first ones we had, but, to offset that, we have added many new ones.

Here are a few of the most important ones—

TROTTER MARKS FALL

AT KALAMAZOO

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 22.—A new season's record for 3-year-olds, as well as the trotting record for the season, was made at the Grand Circuit meeting. The 3-year-old winner was Dayer of the Cox stable, but driven by Tom Murphy, the former New Hampshire rehusman having two starters in the race, in which he gave a mount behind the best one, Murphy, in order that he might drive the entry of his employer, Laurel Hall farm.

Peter Coley, winner of the Ohio and Pennsylvania stakes, repeated in the $3000 Paper Mills event for 2.08 trotters and the Ohio stallion established the trotting record for the season at 2:04. In the first heat, all conditions were ideal for record-breaking and the attendance was the largest seen here in several years.

The Cox entry, Dayer, and Natella the Great sold even with Voltaire for the trot race. Murphy took Dayer out in front and in a great stretch duel with Voltaire landed him first at the wire by a head in 2:04. The pair had a merry battle in the second heat, but this time Voltaire made a bobble in the stretch and Dayer won an easier winner. Dayer is owned by David M. Look of New York. His victory is the first by a member of the Cox stable this season.

Peter Coley, who won two races Tuesday, got back into the winning stride again yesterday, landing the long shot Prosser, winner of the opening event for 2.11 trotters, in which a big field, mostly push horses, started.

"Pop" Geers, who won two races Tuesday, got back into the winning stride again yesterday, landing the long shot Prosser, winner of the opening event for 2.11 trotters, in which a big field, mostly push horses, started.

FAST CREWS READY FOR WORCESTER RACES

WORCESTER, July 22.—A possible question in connection with the selection of America's rowing representatives at the Antwerp games was obviated today by the announcement that August Hammi, stroke of the Syracuse university eight-oared crew, had been forced to leave the shell because of illness.

The plan stroke crew was involved in a question of citizenship, to which it had been planned to appeal to Washington in the event that Syracuse won.

The Syracuse eight is one of six crews entered for the senior eight race in the annual championship regatta of the national amateur rowing association, to be held on Lake Quabbin tomorrow and Saturday.

To the crew which wins will go selection as Olympic representative and with the Annapolis first and second crews and the two eights of the Duluth Boat club, four contenders, competition is keen.

In four days of rowing, the crews will be both national champions and Olympic representatives.

The loss of Hammi will not seriously affect Syracuse's chances. Coach Erick said today. In practice spins this morning he moved Alvin Laskamp from No. 6 to stroke position and brought into the boat Harwood Chase, stroke of the Syracuse freshman crew.

Laskamp, who won the two-day regatta were on the lake for trial spins. The mile and one-quarter course. There were no rowing events from Philadelphia, Detroit, New York, Washington, D. C., Halifax, N. S., Boston and Springfield.

Not Much in the Field To Put Against Dempsey—Must Take on Easy Marks

LOOKS GOOD AS EVER

A year's absence from the boxing ring doesn't seem to have changed the appearance or the fighting desire of Jack Dempsey. As a rule long layoffs don't do a boxer any good but the champion is back with the declaration that he is not afraid of any man living, and he seems to have intimidated the best Europe has produced.

BY DEAN SNYDER
Jack Dempsey is coming out of his corner again after a year's absence. And there isn't much in the field to put against him except the same gang of heavies who used to bopkick him for him before he took over the title.

For one solid year we listened to the battle of typewriters carried on between Dempsey and Carpenter. They scrapped both machines for junk when the Frenchman went back to Paris.

Dempsey, with his moving picture contract fulfilled and his battle of the present Bill Brennan will hold a limited few who stand any chance to even stay with the champion. Fred Fulton is one of them. Dempsey slammed him into dreamland two years ago at Harrison, N. J.

Then there's Joe Beckett's friends backing him for a match with our champion. His short stay in the ring with Carpenter makes his prospects appear ridiculous. Fulton may have improved since he fought Dempsey. Likewise Beckett may have picked up something he didn't have when he fought the French ace.

Yet the heavy odds can figure for Dempsey is that his title is as secure today as it was just after they cleared away the wreck on a certain Fourth of July that Jess Willard will never forget.

With a Dempsey-Carpenter match made impossible for the present Bill Brennan will be the first man to draw on the champion since he won the title a year ago. The match is to be held within two months and the highest bidder will stage the entertainment.

courts disposed of favorably, wants to fight.

First Job
His first job will be to polish off Bill Brennan—that is if some promoter can count out enough kate to suit all parties concerned.

The last time they met Dempsey hit Leo P. Flynn's boxer so hard on the chin that his ankle snapped. Brennan recently said that he believed he could have taken Jack on that occasion if the accident hadn't happened. He denies that it was the effect of the concussion from Dempsey's glove that broke his leg. He says he tried to shift too quickly.

An Argument
However, the accident is sufficient argument for another trial and Jack

Ruth has been on a rampage. Cleveland has batted the ball all over the lot, and Chicago has given the separators a terrible wallop as follows:
New York 14, St. Louis 5.
Cleveland 10, Philadelphia 4.
Detroit 7, Boston 5.
Chicago 17, Washington 2.

Here's Where You Win
Then all is joy with you, for the total is 64 and the average is 8 runs. In the event being those first given, you send the operator your check for so many shares at 6 cents a share and he sends you his for so many shares at 5 cents a share.

In the second case, you send the operator your check for so many shares at 5 cents a share and he sends you his for so many shares at 5 cents a share, your profit being 2 cents on each share.

The Quarterly Meeting of the U. S. Banking and A.A. will be held on Friday, July 23, at the Club House, South Lowell, at 8 p. m.

Business of importance is to be transacted at that meeting. All members are requested to be present.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agent

THE STRAND

One of the three headliners at the Strand theatre the last half of the present week concerns the man who promised to die—literally—that is, in a situation. It's brought out in "Twins of Suffering Creek." A Fox picture, with William Russell as the star. George H. Waggner, the notable stage artist, will also be on his bill with "The Devil's Claim," a drama of Hindu superstition and sorcery—a story which is being played in Italy.

It is often placed as a headliner. And then there will be funny Larry Serman in the Fly Con, one of the greatest of laugh and picture pictures. One must see it to appreciate it.

MEERIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Robert Warwick has the role of a 20th century knight of adventure in "The Fourteenth Man," the picture in which he is being featured at the Merrimack Square theatre on the current program. The story provides a good mixture of romance and adventure, punctuated with thrills and dramatic suspense.

Capt. Gordon, the central figure of the production, is a modern Sir Galahad, who does not hesitate to don boxing gloves and do battle in the prize ring when occasion demands. The other four for the romance and adventure picture are "Away Goes Providence." The International News, a comedy, and the Burton Holmes travel pictures round out the bill.

HARDING'S FATHER

STRONG FOR SUFFRAGE

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Headquarters of the national woman's party here received word from the Marion headquarters today that Dr. G. T. Harding, father of the republican nominee, has promised to go to Tennessee, if necessary, to bring about adoption of the suffrage amendment by that state.

Dr. Harding was said to have telephoned this promise to the Marion headquarters today, at the same time expressing great interest in the suffrage cause.
